NATIONAL SECURITY SEMINAR OPENS IN NEWARK

"WE ARE IN TOTAL CONFLICT," GENERAL SAYS

By R. L. CHOMIAK

NEWARK, N. J., May 8. — National Security Seminar opened here this morning in the Public Service auditorium with high military personnel, leaders of industry and business and the nation's legislators in attendance.

After the presentation of the colors by the color guard, Thomas R. Jones, Chairman of the Board of Daystrom Inc., opened the seminar in behalf of the N. J. State Chamber of Commerce, sponsors of the two-week series of lectures.

The seminar is a condensation of a ten month course on national security given by the Industrial College of the Armed Services at Washington, D. C. Two teams from the college travel to seven cities each every year with lectures like those which are now being held at Newark for high-ranking reserve and regular officers of all four military services of the United States...

Lt. Gen G. W. Mundy, USAF, Commandant of the Industrial College, a West Pointer and a flyer of many years spoke during the opening ceremonies and explained the purposes and the scope of the seminar.

UCCA Executive Held Conference With Youth Leaders

DOBRIANSKY OUTLINED LONG RANGE AND IMMEDIATE GOALS

NEW YORK (Staff). — Top officers of the Ukrainian Congress Committee of America, and presidents or their representatives of most of the Ukrainian American youth organizations met together on Saturday, May 6, in the Ukrainian Institute of America on East 79th Street to discuss some questions of better cooperation and the establishment of effective channels of communication.

Dr. Lev E. Dobriansky of Washington, chairman of the UCCA was present at the meeting, and delivered the main talk. With him were John O. Flis, UCCA youth coordinator, who presided over the conference; Joseph Lesawyer, UCCA treasurer; Ignatius Billinsky of Philadelphia, UCCA secretary; and Walter Dushnyck, editor of UCCA publications, the latter was instrumental in organizing the meeting.

In his opening remarks, Mr. Flis stated that UCCA is aware of the small role currently played in its ranks by the members of the younger generation, and that the situation needs remedying.

The youth coordinator stressed the need for more frequent meetings of this sort, to serve as liaison between the UCCA executive and the youth organizations.

Prof. Dobriansky next addressed those present. The UCCA chairman spoke about Congress Committee in general, its goals and methods of operation, and then mentioned some immediate activities underway by this central body of Ukrainian Americans.

COMMUNIST ORGAN ASSAILS DOBRIANSKY

KIEV, Ukraine.—One of the most brazen and vituperative attacks ever launched against a Ukrainian American leader is the article against Dr. Lev E. Dobriansky, Georgetown University professor and national chairman of the Ukrainian Congress Committee of America, which appeared in the No. 7 (April), 1961 issue of Perets (Pepper), a satirical magazine in Kiev. In an article, "Coward Dobriansky, or the Fool is Happy with a Piece of Broken Glass," writer B. Mykolenko assailed Dr. Dobriansky for the role he played in the preparation of the 43rd anniversary of Ukraine's independence celebration this past January in Washington, D.C.

TOMORROW IS HER DAY

Tomorrow is Mother's Day. The fact needs little reminding for it has been impressed on our minds for the past two weeks at least, by the displays in the stores, by messages on the airwaves, by advertisements in the magazines, newspapers and on outdoor billboards.

The important thing here, however, is that the giving does not become merely customary, that we do not simply buy a gift for mother because that is the thing to do.

For it was our mother who brought us into this world, and who suffered many inconveniences and hardships before, and for years after our birth.

On this Mother's Day, a Sunday, let us remember our mothers primarily in our prayers. Let us thank the Everlasting for granting them to us, and let us ask Him for strength and healthy life for them if they are among the living, and for peace for their soul if they are dead.

Let us also honor our mothers on this special day set aside for them, and let us make a resolution to honor them in the days to come, for it is something that they surely deserve from us.

To all you mothers, then, we send the heartiest greetings, and may your wonderful attributes be manifest for years to come.

AMERICA'S GREATEST TRIUMPH

May 5, 1961 will ever remain in the annals of American history as a day of the greatest triumph and technological achievement. On that day Navy Commander Alan B. Shepard made the first flight into space, thus becoming the first American astronaut to fly into outer space.

On Monday, May 8, 1961 Commander Shepard received a hero's welcome in Washington and was decorated with the Distinguished Service Medal for contribution to space technology.

The flight of Commander Shepard has greatly enhanced the prestige of the United States in the turbulent world of today. The press of the free world acclaimed the feat of the American astronaut, and praised his wisdom, courage and determination.

There is much talk, even in this country, as to whether the American space flight is comparable to that allegedly made by Major Yuri Gagarin in the USSR.

All of us can derive very deep and proper satisfaction from the openness with which the U.S. flight was conducted. The entire world shared the build-up of the flight, and entire world also shares the very real success of Commander Shepard's flight.

This much cannot be said of the alleged flight of Soviet Major Gagarin. The circumstances under which Gagarin's flight was announced and the subsequent utilization of his purported flight for propaganda purposes of the Communist Party, leads one to doubt whether Major Gagarin's flight actually took place.

In extending our warmest congratulations to Commander Shepard for his outstanding accomplishment, his stamina and his courage, we express our praise and admiration for the many American technologists who have dedicated their skills and labor to this far-reaching attainment.

The flight of Commander Shepard, besides its great technological and military significance, serves also to underscore that our space science is making steady progress; it stresses our basic philosophy that science should serve man in his pursuit of steady progress, development, freedom and happiness.

THE FLIGHT OF THE ASTRONAUT

By CLARENCE A. MANNING

On Friday, May 5, 1961, one of the previously selected and trained astronauts, Commander Alan B. Shepard, Jr., U.S.N., made the first flight of an American into space. The capsule in which he was enclosed was fired from Cape Canaveral, Florida, 115 miles high and descended into the ocean 302 miles out at sea, where it was picked up by a helicopter.

The flight was apparently successful in every way and the astronaut emerged in good physical and mental condition. All in all, he seems to have had an enjoyable ride.

Spectacular Success

The news of this successful launching and recovery drew an immediate response from all classes of people in the United States and the free world, for it was the first spectacular success of the American space research and its very success loomed larger in the American mind because of the large number of failures that had preceded it in the tests and the setbacks which American policy had met with in Cuba, Laos and other places.

It was far from the success which the Soviet Union had claimed a few weeks before with the orbiting of a manned satellite, and TASS, the Soviet news agency and the Russian Communists were not slow in stressing this fact and in pointing out how far superior Moscow was in its rocketry and in its capacity to exploit outer space.

It is now well over a month since the Gagarin flight was made. While scientists and governments are quite confident that they know where the flight started, there is probably considerably less assurance as to where it ended.

On the other hand, the flight of Commander Shepard was carried on with a maximum of publicity. It was announced earlier than one of the astronauts would make a flight on Tuesday and when this was postponed, there was little doubt that the flight was going to be made in a few days.

On Monday, May 8, 1961 Commander Shepard received a hero's welcome in Washington and was decorated with the Distinguished Service Medal for contribution to space technology.

WHAT HAPPENED WHEN...

THERE WAS A WALKOUT AT THE STUDENT'S MEETING

Some unusual and unexpected incidents occurred at the most recent meeting of the Ukrainian Students' Association of New York, which caused some of the participants to leave the room in protest.

The Ukrainian Students' Association is an alliance of students from the various universities and colleges of New York metropolitan area. In accordance with the constitution of this body, some students belong to it directly, and some through the Ukrainian clubs at their respective institutions.

On Friday, May 5, which was the day of the most recent meeting of USA-NY, the main business on the agenda was the selection of delegates to the forthcoming congress of SUSTA, the Federation of Ukrainian Student Organizations of America, of which USA-NY is one of the members.

A heated debate and some friction developed at the meeting when it became apparent that a group of the students held proxy votes of their absent friends, thus securing the majority for their list of proposed delegates.

Since a copy of the organization's constitution was not available, President Larysa Hanushchak of the Students' Association put the question of whether proxies were allowed or not to the vote.

This became the signal for the dissenting group to leave the room in protest, and when

Russian and the American methods of announcing the space flights is so great that it cannot fail to have repercussions on the conference in Geneva on the prohibition of nuclear explosions, whether in outer space, in the air, on the ground or under the ground.

The Soviet refusal to accept any international or joint inspection in the Soviet Union over which Moscow cannot impose an effective veto is a good proof of Russian insincerity in their desire to ban nuclear explosions.

U.N.A. NOTES AND COMMENTS

GET INTERESTED!

By THEODORE LUTWINIAK

The Ukrainian National Association now has almost 75,000 dues-paying members. (There are another 4,000 with paid up certificates which are still in force).

UNA officers and those members who are interested in the future of the organization are pleased that the 75,000 figure has almost been reached. But what about the average young person? Is he or she particularly impressed? Does it mean anything to him or her?

It would seem, therefore, that the average young person is not particularly impressed by the fact that the UNA now has almost 75,000 members.

We have been following the latest membership campaign and have made certain conclusions. For instance, the young people's participation in the campaign is not what it should or could be.

Only a certain few of the youth branches show promise that they will attain their quotas of new members. Then there are certain other factors, such as the continued requests for cash surrender, lack of American-born organizers, and lack of enthusiasm on the part of the youth for the UNA and what their respective universities. Since students at City College are not in that category, he said, most of them left the meeting.

Oksana Matushevsky of Hunter College, and a member of ZAREVO said plainly that she felt the whole thing was "fixed," and very crude.

A somewhat different opinion was given by Yevhen Lashchuk of City College, who stayed to be chosen one of the delegates to the congress.

He said that the meeting clearly showed that at last the students are beginning to take an active part in their affairs.

His point of view on the matter was that one group showed an interest in its candidates, and took a step forward in some active pre-election campaigning; for this they should not be criticized.

But the opposition was a loser, as is often the case in such situations," he added, "and they just walked out."

Lashchuk said that the meeting pointed to another weakness which is prevalent among Ukrainian groups, and that is lack of understanding of the parliamentary procedure.

See WALKOUT, pg. 3

From THE TREATY OF RIGA TO THE SECOND WORLD WAR

The Promethean Movement favored the continuation of the struggle for independence through efforts in the League of Nations and through appeals to the democratic world opinion in the West.

In the historic struggle between Russian communism and liberty-loving non-Russian nations, some of them succeeded in preserving their independence as the Polish-Ukrainian, Russian Communist war had weakened Lenin's military power.

What is Russian communism in the light of the history of the period between the two World Wars? It is usually de-defined as an international political movement, founded by Marx and Engels as a reaction against unrestricted economic liberalism and, therefore, one often hears the opinion that the Western European nations are to be blamed for it while the Russians were only "victims" of this European movement.

NATIONAL UYL-NA SPORTS RALLY TERMED A SUCCESS

LARGE TURNOUT FEATURES WEEKEND IN AUBURN, N. Y.

By ALEXANDER F. DANKO

The Ukrainian Youth League of North America (UYL-NA) held its annual UYL-NA Sports Rally at the Ukrainian National Club in Auburn, N. Y. last weekend (April 28-30, 1961) and it was a resounding success in every way—athletically, socially and financially.

Mrs. Helen Dudek, an outstanding bowler and a fine person, too, served again as General Chairlady of this Auburn rally, just as she had at the two Auburn rallies in the past, in 1954 and 1957. Thus, Mrs. Dudek, her outstanding committee and the Auburn, N. Y. Ukrainians are to be congratulated for this very successful event.

On Friday evening, a fair-sized crowd came out to the opening or welcome social despite a very heavy rain. On Saturday morning, with the crowd still pouring in on Auburn, the bowling events and the basketball games got off to good stars at the U.N. Club.

A feature that the members of the UYL-NA Executive Board, who were present at Auburn, liked the most, was the over 100 teen-agers who took part in the UYL-NA Intermediate and Senior Basketball Championship games as players and spectators.

The winning teams were the Auburn, N. Y. Ukrainians defeating the Syracuse, N. Y. Ukrainians by a score of 71-53 for the Intermediate (14-17 years) title, while the perennial champs, 5-time winners Johnson City, N. Y. did it again by defeating Utica, N. Y. SS. Peter and Paul Ukrainians by a score of 55-26 in a low scoring event, for their 6th Senior UYL-NA title.

The bowling events, featuring Intermediate Basketball (14-17 years) and Senior Basketball (18 years and over) were held at the U.N. Club. The winning teams were Auburn, N.Y. (56) and Troy, N.Y. (58) for the Intermediate title, and Johnson City, N.Y. (39) and Utica, N.Y. (26) for the Senior title.

teams from New Jersey, Eastern Pennsylvania, and up-state New York (what again?) who turned out in record numbers (40 five men and women teams) gave the rally its big boost toward success, also.

Our congratulations on such fine numbers (8 basketball teams and 40 bowling teams) go to Mrs. Helen Dudek and her Auburn committee, and to UYL-NA Sports Director Charles Kobito a "spark-plug" from Rome, N. Y., who hustled to many areas in up-state New York, New Jersey, and Scranton, Pa. to arouse interest in our Auburn rally.

The Saturday night Bowling Ball found a crowd of 700 people or better making with the Ukrainian, American and Latin dance beat and always it really is.

On Sunday afternoon—after services at SS. Peter and Paul Ukrainian Church the Championship Awards Banquet was held at the U.N. Club. Gracing the dais were Mayor Maurice I. Schwartz of Auburn, N. Y. State Senator George R. the Auburn Chamber of Commerce and Leo A. Piekney, sportseditor of the Auburn Citizen-Advertiser.

To everyone who participated at this affair and contributed to its success, our heartiest congratulations.

A three-game victory by the Ukrainian Sitch team over the Ukrainian Center quintet in the matches held Friday, May 5th, enabled the Sitchmen to clinch the league championship even before the close of the thirty-three week schedule.

The Brotherhood of the Holy Ascension team wrecked the aspirations of the Ukrainian Orthodox Church quintet by winning all three games by fairly close margins.

Both teams of the St. John's C.W.V. Post of Newark bowed to their respective opponents, each losing two games out of three. The "seniors" lost to the St. John's Holy Name Society five, while the "juniors" gave in to the Number Two Veterans.
