BOUND BROOK, N.J., June 6 (Svoboda) — The ceremony of imbedding of two fragments from the famous churches of Kiev into the walls of the Church-Monument of the Ukrainian Orthodox Church in this New Jersey town, took proportions of a national manifestation last Sunday, June 4. Thousands of people, including representatives of central organizations, and municipal and state dignitaries participated in the outdoor event, which was enhanced by clear skies, and warm temperature. The Ukrainian Orthodox Church in the United States has its see in Bound Brook. There the offices of the Consistory are located, as well as the library, archive, and the partially completed Church-Monument, which was the center of last Sunday's ceremonies. PHILADELPHIA, Pa., June 5 (Staff) — Forty-four delegates from seven branches in the United States, plus a number of guests and members from cities in Canada attended the ninth congress of the Association of Former Soldiers of the Ukrainian Insurgent Army (UPA) in the Ukrainian American Citizens Home on 23rd Street here, last weekend. The Congress, which started on Saturday, June 3rd and ended on Sunday June 4, made one guest participant comment on the unusual punctuality which the "UPA boys" maintained throughout the weekend agenda. Lev Futala was elected chairman of the conclave, and Petro Dmytryk was vice chairman. Yaroslav Kiciuk and Roman Hlushko acted as secretaries, Tenth anniversary of the Association was observed at the outset of the first session. In the first day of the congress, besides the presentation of the reports by the National Executive, and discussion on them, the agenda called for the address by V. Makar on the increased aggression by Moscow and our reaction to it. In the evening on Saturday there was the tenth anniversary banquet and ball on the premises of the Citizens' Home. Ignatius Billinsky, Managing Editor of America, the Ukrainian Catholic daily, acted as master of ceremonies at the banquet. The evening's program also included entertainment which was provided by Maria Lysiak, Yaroslava Baranetsky, Ivan Kernytsky, Bohdan Pazdriy, Mykola Ponedelok, and Yaroslav Pinot-Rudakevych. Sculptor Mykhaylo Cherezhniivsky, himself a former member of the UPA, reminisced about the guerrilla army activities. Approval of the new budget, election of the National Executive, address by Prof. Ivan Vovchuk ("Reality and Our Tomorrow"), and drawing up of the resolutions, filled the Sunday morning session of the congress. The new National Executive of the Association of former UPA members, which was elected at this congress is made up of the following people: Mykola Hrytsakovich — president; Mykola Sydor — vice president; Mykhaylo Shaskevych — secretary; Pavlo Shkafarovskiy — treasurer. WASHINGTON, D.C. — The Freedoms Foundation at Valley Forge, Pa., has honored Dr. Lev E. The presentation of the Award was made at ceremonies held in the Old United States Supreme Court Chamber on Friday, May 19, 1961. The 1960 National Award Jury of the Foundation declared in its citation that the address was "An outstanding achievement in bringing about a better understanding of the American way of life during 1960." The address was delivered by Dr. Dobriansky before the Women's Forum on National Security and was published in Vital Speeches of the Day, The Congressional Record and other organs. Its main theme was the application of American principles of national self-determination, independence, democracy and liberty to the captive nations, particularly those in the Soviet Union.

DEVOTE MEETING TO RECENTLY PUBLISHED BOOKS

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., June 3 (Staff) — A survey of Ukrainian books published in the Free World during 1960, and a talk on Ukrainian booklovers clubs, were on the agenda of the meeting this evening of the local Ukrainian Literary and Arts Club. The meeting which was held in the Plast Home on Franklin St., was presided by Volodymyr Rudnytsky. Listing the published works by Ukrainian authors in 1960 and commenting on the outstanding ones was Bohdan Krawciw, associate editor of Svoboda. He does a similar bibliographical survey regularly, and that which he presented tonight was his most recent one. According to Mr. Krawciw, over 70 entries were made during the past year into the list of Ukrainian books published outside Ukraine. The collection represents twenty-one volumes of poetry, 2 of drama, 19 — prose, 14 of books for children, 9 works on literature, 3 collections of works and two new editions of Shevchenko's Kobzar, as well as 13 volumes of multi-volume publications, such as the complete works of Shevchenko now being published in Chicago, which will run to fourteen volumes. Mr. Krawciw did not include in his survey the learned publications, which he said have doubled in number over those published during the previous year. Although the number of literary works published in 1960 may seem quite high, he said, nevertheless when compared with other years, it has dropped somewhat. Young Poets Most Productive It was interesting to note that in the field of poetry, the largest activity is among the younger generation, while middle-aged and older authors concentrate on prose. Krawciw said that there is a definite lack of literary criticism however, and that in playwriting, Ukrainians in the Free World are virtually non-productive. The survey of Ukrainian literature for 1960 was followed by a talk of Mrs. Ludmyla Chaplenko who outlined the establishment of informal booklovers clubs by the Ukrainian women's organizations. The program is part of the activity of the Cultural Committee of the Ukrainian National Women's League, she said. There is no formal organization of these local clubs, nor are there any meetings being held. The aim, according to Mrs. Chaplenko, is to stimulate interest in books among women, both American-born, and those who came to this country as immigrants. Encourage Women to Read She said that this is done in such a way that women who consider themselves to be members of this loose booklovers organization, talk over the buying and reading of books of Ukrainian authors with those who are not. They then ask the women-readers to write their comments on the books to the authors, and when occasion arises arrange for meetings between authors and readers. A similar club in Montreal, Canada, said Mrs. Chaplenko, encouraged its members to buy new Ukrainian books, read them, and later donate them to a local public library. A discussion on the two talks which followed, completed the agenda of this most recent meeting of Philadelphia's Ukrainian Arts and Literary Club.

Brazil's Provincial Diet Urges Liberation of Ukraine, Other Captive Nations

CURITIBA, Parana, Brazil, May 17, 1961. — A resolution unanimously adopted by the Diet of the State of Parana, appealed to President Janos Quadros of Brazil and to the Brazilian government to take appropriate steps before the United Nations to liberate Ukraine and other captive nations enslaved by the Soviet Union, according to O Lavrador, published in Curitiba, Brazil (May 28, 1961). It stated that the resolution, introduced by Rev. Volodymyr Khaneiko, member of the Diet from the Christian Democratic Party, was sent to President Janos Quadros in Brasilia. The text of the resolution, the paper said, reads as follows: "Your Excellency! I wish respectfully to notify you that at the plenary session on May 17, 1961 on the proposal of Deputy Volodymyr Khaneiko it was decided to send to the office of the President the following telegram: Taking advantage of the situation when the Soviet Union supports the cause of the liberation of nations, we request Your Excellency to instruct the Brazilian representatives and delegates in the United Nations to initiate a campaign of liberation of nations which are suffering under Soviet dictatorship, such as Ukraine, Poland, East Germany, Estonia, Lithuania, Latvia, Czechoslovakia, Hungary and others. The cause of peace and self-determination of nations requires a freedom for all without exceptions, according to the views of Your Excellency." The telegram was signed by Vidal Vagnoni, president of the Diet of the State of Parana. Debate in Brazilian Senate According to O Lavrador, a number of Brazilian Senators took part in a debate on the problem of colonialism, underscoring various facets of this system. Thus Senator Aljo Guimaraes, while reading a memorandum from the Ukrainian-Brazilian Club, said: "The enslaved Ukrainian people are demanding their independence and, conscious of their important role in the free world, refuse to be subjugated by the Soviet system." Similar statements were made by Senators Filinto Mueller and Jefferson Aguiar, who contended that Brazil while condemning colonialism cannot forget about Ukraine, which suffers from Russian colonialism and imperialism. Deputy Stepan Mykylyta, who is a Brazilian of Ukrainian origin, was received at an audience by Senhor Afonso Arinos, Brazilian Foreign Minister, to whom he submitted a memorandum of the Ukrainian-Brazilian Club on the situation of the Ukrainian people behind the Iron Curtain. Senator Arinos replied that both he and President Janos Quadros of Brazil are staunch partisans of freedom for all the enslaved nations, and the memorandum of the Ukrainian-Brazilian Club will be taken into consideration by the government, the item in O Lavrador ended.
