

Readers Protest Distortions of Facts On Ukraine and Ukrainians

EDITOR'S NOTE: As a matter of policy this newspaper has been encouraging our readers to write to American newspapers and radio and TV commentators correcting any erroneous or misleading statements on Ukraine and the Ukrainians that appear in the American press or in radio or TV news broadcasts.

would probably object, Sir, if Mr. Castro were introduced to you as "a fellow-American." But one can hardly compare United States' trouble with Cuba with Ukraine's centuries-long struggle with Russia. Indeed, I will not overstate it I say that by early 1930's we, Ukrainians, knew more about the real Soviet Russia than the Western world knows today.

Dear Miss Stecura: Sorry for the delay in replying to your enclosure of an editorial on the Ukrainian Dance Company. It reached here after I had left for Europe.

I suspect that it's always difficult to avoid offending someone when national designations are used. We always refer to ourselves as Americans, yet this usually elicits acid remarks from Latin Americans, and quite justifiably since they are also American.

Reply of Mrs. Stecura

Thank you for your letter of September 20th which was forwarded to me from Bermuda. It was very kind of you to have taken the time to answer so extensively.

Why, then, in 1943-44 did so many hundreds of thousands of us flee, with just what we could carry in our hands, and where? — into heavily bombed Austria and Germany? Because we knew that whatever lie ahead could not be worse than that left behind. When the war was over, when many of us came to the United States, we tried to tell our story of life under the Russian rule, but, alas! — nobody believed us.

Reading the Encyclopaedia Britannica under "Ukraine" one is appalled to find how Ukrainian political and national leaders were liquidated one by one by the Russian secret agents.

Writing to you, Sir, as a representative and expert on an aspect of art, I should like to add just a few more words on this point. It has been proven that Ukrainians and Russians are completely different people psychologically, emotionally and culturally.

Ohio's 'Ukrainian Man of the Year' 'Lisovi Chorty' Continue Tradition

Highlighting the Recognition Dinner of the Ukrainian Professional Society of Ohio was the naming of Professor Michael S. Pap as Ohio's "Ukrainian Man of the Year."

In accepting the award, Dr. Pap noted that "only through increased contact with non-Ukrainian circles will the Ukrainian community be able to gain for Ukraine the recognition so long denied her."

great struggle all battles which we have fought and won for the liberty of mankind since 1776 will have been in vain, and all our efforts in whatever field we are engaged will be foreclosed.

Twenty-five recent college and university graduates of Ukrainian ancestry from the Greater Cleveland area were honored at the Dinner and welcomed into the ranks of Ukrainian-American professionals.

Pick Active Senior as First Honoree

Orysia Pashchak, active Irvington High School senior who also ranks high academically has been chosen as the first "Girl of the Month" for the difference between the sombre Russian cities and the warm, singing, shining Kiev and other Ukrainian cities.

Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wasyi Pashchak, the 17-year-old was honored by the group at a dinner at the Coronet recently.

Besides the Library Council, Debate and German clubs, Orysia has also belonged to the Public Speaking Club, serving as treasurer, Badminton Club, Society of Contemporary Political Thought, reported for the school newspaper Orator, and served as homeroom secretary and bank representative in her junior year, and homeroom vice-president in sophomore year.

NEW YORK, November 3. — Have you ever been to an honest to goodness masquerade ball? Or better yet, have you ever been to a masquerade ball given by the famous Plast group "Lisovi Chorty"?

The ballroom was full of such things as draculas, clowns, Greek, Romans, Arabs, Spaniards, one witch, and a cook from a nearby restaurant with all the utensils.

BOOK REVIEW

AN INTRODUCTION TO UKRAINIAN, By Yar Slavutych. Slavutych Publishers, Edmonton, 1962, pp. 24.

The author of Conversational Ukrainian, Basic Ukrainian and Ukrainian for Children, a poet and an authority on the Ukrainian language, Professor Yar Slavutych of the University of Alberta has just produced a short introduction to Ukrainian. This book is designed as an aid for teachers and students of Ukrainian, and it contains many handy tips, usually not found in grammars for beginners.

The textbook consists of some 24 paragraphs chapters on history of the Ukrainian language, written and printed alphabet, pronunciation and classification of sounds, notes on orthography, phonology, morphology, syntax and linguistic peculiarities.

Mr. "Pes" and his helpers organized a distinguished jury to judge the costumes. The Members of the jury were: Mrs. Tania Kravchuk, Mrs. C. Skorobohata, Mrs. Navrocks, Mr. Sychowych, Mr. B. Bidak and yours truly.
