need for the many trials which lie ahead. In part, the letter from the Vatican stated: "In giving assurance that the Holy Father derives much comfort and encouragement from the knowledge of the prayers and good works which His beloved children have offered up for the success of the Ecumenical Council, the Secretariat of State has pleasure in conveying, as a pledge of copious heavenly graces and favors, the paternal Apostolic Blessing of His Holiness."

Wesley Czup, past president, was awarded an Appreciation Certificate and pin by Fr. Laptuta for exhibiting outstanding qualities of Catholic leadership. In turn, Wesley Czup presented our pastor with a check for $700 from the Holy Name Society toward the new church. Father Laptuta thanked all members for the generous donation as well as their unselfish efforts in assisting him during the year in all activities.

Rev. Illig emphasized the role of the immigrant in the growth of Catholicism. In 1776, there were only 30,000 Catholics in the United States and today there are over 44 million Catholics. He stated that the strong unity amongst the nationality groups, such as Ukrainians, brought forth the strong urge to develop Catholicism to the power it is today and the future role it is to play in our dynamic America. The last 15 years has brought phenomenal changes: shattered Europe has been re-born; our own booming economic and population growth; disappearance of Colonialism throughout the world; emergence of Africa; rapid spread of Communism encompassing 900 million enslaved people; Communist China's rise; election of a Catholic President and growth of suburbia.

The first and most important area in which we must encourage our young people is in education. Teachers influenced over 44 million students this year in schools and if a strong Catholic encouragement was preached, then a strong, new generation will emerge full of new ideals and goodness.

The area of journalism is most important for young people to become interested in since words are the biggest influence on people. Millions read newspapers, magazines, books and periodicals, while other millions watch television and movies.
