Commemorate Burning of Library

SUDBURY, Ont. — The Ukrainian National Youth Federation of Sudbury, Ontario, held an exhibit at the Sudbury Public Library from June 14 to 19, 1965, to commemorate the deliberate burning by Russian Communists of the Ukrainian Academy of Sciences Library in Kiev, on April 24, 1961. The fire which lasted three days destroyed more than 600,000 volumes of books, archives, rare manuscripts and historical documents.

Nick Nykilechuk of the art department of CKSO-TV, who did the graphic work, and Vera Hrychenko, an elementary school teacher. The event which was reported in the Sudbury Daily Star on June 17, 1965, as a photo editorial, was striking in its simplicity, consisting of a mound of burned ashes displayed on a black background accompanied by an explanatory poster. The exhibit attracted many visitors and served to inform the public of the continual destruction of culture and perils of Russification being imposed on Ukraine.

N.Y. Ukrainians, Hansa Tie In First of Two Games for U.S. Cup

NEW YORK, N. Y. (zs) — The Ukrainian Sports Club of New York and Hansa S.C. of Chicago played to a 1-1 tie in the first of a two-game home-and-home series for the U.S. Challenge Cup, emblematic of national soccer supremacy. The game, witnessed by more than 3,000 spectators, was played at the Ukrainian Sports Field in Astoria, N. Y., on Sunday, June 27. The second game will be played tomorrow at Chicago's Hanson Park Stadium, Fullerton and Central.

The New York Ukrainians, established as odds-on favorites before the series started, were on the verge of a defeat in the first match, as the tying marker, scored by Peter Smethurst, did not come until the 87th minute of the game. Though still very much in the running for the Dewar trophy, they will have to come up with a better performance in Chicago if they are to defeat the inspired Hansa eleven in the German team's own backyard.

Mediocre Team

Hansa, a mediocre though well-trained team, had no reason to complain about the outcome of the first game. They came to New York determined to gain at least a tie, and they got it. With a little bit more luck they could have even had a two-goal advantage before Smethurst headed in the tying marker, but by the same token they were equally lucky to escape a shellacking by a much superior if slightly overconfident Ukrainian eleven.

It was this nonchalant carelessness on the part of USC's defense, particularly their center halfback Mario Paz and right fullback Carlos Rodriguez, that led to Hansa's goal at the 12-minute mark and upset whatever strategy the Ukrainian side had devised. Willie Roy, Hansa's dashing center forward, whizzed a bullet-drive under the cross-bar from the edge of the penalty area on a free kick awarded after Paz, in a futile attempt to catch up with the speedy center forward, tripped him from behind. The New Yorkers virtually besieged Hansa's goal for the rest of the game, but they could not penetrate the tightly-knit defense for a clean shot on goal. And whatever did go through the maze of legs became the booty of Hansa's lanky substitute goalkeeper George Derra. USC's failure to score, especially in the second half when they were playing with a strong wind in their backs, can be attributed in part to the inability of their forwards to shake themselves loose for a clean shot and the repeated lobbing of the ball into the crowded penalty area where it was cleared with relative ease by the German defense.

Speed Not Utilized

USC's speed on the wings was not utilized by the inside forwards W. Schmotolocha and F. McGolgan, both of whom lack inventiveness and imagination to crack a massed defense. G. Bradley and E. Kravets worked hard, but were equally ineffective in shooting from far out. In fairness to Kravets, he was considerably hampered by the weak play of Rodriguez and, to some extent, Paz, as Roy tried repeatedly to break through the right side of USC's defense. The New Yorker's best man on the field was left fullback Norman Young. Fast, efficient, hard in tackling and unbeatable in the air—two goal-line saves in the second half—he should have been assigned to shadow Hansa's Roy. The forward line deserves little credit, although Smethurst and Wilson were dangerous at all times. Kilar, while he was in the game, showed much promise, but he could improve his down-the-line dribble and left-footed crosses.

All forwards will have to display more aggressiveness in tomorrow's final encounter, and utilize their speed and direct passing to overcome Hansa's solid defense. The large and grassy field in Chicago should be quite conducive to USC's established pattern of play. If they concentrate on their game and avoid errors in the defense, they can cope with whatever Hansa can throw at them.

Literary Hints...

(Continued from page 2) obtain information on available order from these guides, as previously noted. Much work has been done in the literary field to date, however much more remains to be done. The few presently contributing require organization and coordination to apply this effort along channels most advantageous to the Ukrainian cause, and affect a greater impact upon the American literary field. What the Ukrainian community needs is a strong organization in which Book Review Committees, assisted by the eyes and ears of the various existing Ukrainian organizations, may review books, periodicals and news media prior to publication in order to correct inaccuracies at the source. The Ukrainian American Professional Association has initiated and taken this first all-important step to accomplish the above. It is the prime duty of all Ukrainians to support this effort by becoming a participating member of the UAPA or by supporting its functions in other ways. The UAPA will shortly issue an appeal and invitation for membership and support for its undertakings.

Parma Savings to Mark Golden Anniversary

PARMA, Ohio.—The Parma Savings Company will mark the 50th anniversary of its founding on July 8, and the friendly saving and loan association founded in 1915 will certainly celebrate the occasion with all the fanfare befitting such an event.

But, as Parma Savings President John Tarnavsky stated, "We, at the Parma Savings are grateful and we want to show our appreciation to our customers, whose confidence and trust have made the first fifty years of our existence so successful. More than 50,000 customers have been served by Parma Savings since 1915, and we want to do more than just serve birthday cake and punch."

So as part of a series of appreciation events between now and July 31, to fittingly mark the Golden Anniversary of this fine association, the officers, directors and staff members of Parma Savings are giving away, absolutely free, 18 valuable prizes, (6 at each of the 3 offices), serving West-side Cleveland, Parma and North Royalton. These prizes will be awarded to lucky visitors who just take the time to visit and register at any of the Company's three offices. Awards will be selected July 31, at each office.

Parma Savings was founded in July, 1915, in the College Avenue — Professor Street area, where the Company still operates a branch office. In August 1956, to serve the multitude of their savers and borrowers who were moving to the Parma area, a beautiful modern air-conditioned building, with ample parking and drive-in-window service was opened at 5839 Ridge Road, near Snow. And, as the movement of the original savers and borrowers and their families began to spread towards the North Royalton area, a third office was opened in February 1963, one of the finest buildings in the community, featuring a community room, drive-in-window and ample parking for customers, at 6465 Royalton Road.

The Parma Savings Co. had a great impact on the Parma area with their friendly policy of community service and dedication, serving not only their original customers, but continuing their service to the second and even the third generation descendants of these original savers and borrowers. A community room, now known as a meeting place for the City's civic, cultural and social life, came into being. Parma Savings trade-mark describes best the image of the association: "Small enough to know you — Big enough to serve you — Strong enough to protect you," and indicates the greatest reason for 50 years of success proven by the record of present resources of nearly $26 million from slightly over $2 million in assets in 1917.

New Yorkers Win First Section Title USC — HANSA TIE IN CUP

The New Yorkers, a collection of players from the German American Soccer League broke precedence and made history in international soccer competition by winning the first section championship of the International Soccer League.

Just a year ago it was a great sensation if a local team managed to gain a tie against a visiting squad, and if anyone would have suggested at that time that a team could be assembled to perform the way the New Yorkers did in the ISL competition, that person would have been labeled a dreamer.

This seems to be the end of the easy vacation-time for foreign touring clubs who usually come here to pile up lopsided victories. The reversal of the 'usual' can be credited, with some pride we might add, to the time when the New York Ukrainians were invited to play in the Easter Tournament earlier this year.

As in the case of the New Yorkers, USC was given little chance to come out alive from this tournament. Although they did not get a victory, they certainly played on even terms with their opposition, at times outplaying them altogether.

They suffered a crushing defeat at the hands of the crack Italian squad Fiorentina but from that point on it was anybody's game. This was true in the ISL. The New Yorkers went down to a 2-0 defeat before the highly rated but disappointing Munich 1860 and that was the only defeat they suffered. Down went West Ham United of England, the holder of the European Cup of Cups and then followed a string of surprises until they gained the section title by holding Varese of Italy to a 0-0 tie last Monday. The local club had previously defeated the Italian side 2-1. There is no doubt that they will find much stronger opposition in the club that takes the second section title; if they manage to overcome that hindrance, the holder of the ISL Challenge Cup happens to be Dukla of Czechoslovakia, and they are no pushovers.

Under these conditions any sort of close passing game was nearly impossible. The ball seemed to hang in the air as if trapped by an unseen hand. The Hansa eleven is a strong club with a good defense and an excellent forward, Willie Roy. He was instrumental in his club's success up to this point scoring most of the goals against the opposition. He also scored the single tally against the New York Ukrainians.

Coaching Is The Answer The New Yorkers' success is no miracle. The answer can be found in an expert coach from England. Although the official coach of the club is John Herberger of the German-American Soccer League, there is little doubt who is the real strategist. George Curtis, player and coach for 30 years, was brought over from England to train the junior ISL team and to act as an advisory coach to the New Yorkers. Mr. Curtis, appointed to lead the Cambridge University Soccer Club during the 1965-66 season did his job well here. Perhaps, as a note of interest to our clubs, the New Yorkers had very few, if any, highly paid local stars on their roster. Coaching, gentlemen, consistent coaching is the answer.

USC Has A Tough Opponent Last Sunday the New York Ukrainians just managed to tie Chicago's Hansa Soccer Club, 1-1, in the first of a two-game total-goal series for the National Challenge Cup. The series will resume again in Chicago this Sunday.
