JOSYF CARDINAL SLIPYJ

5,000 Welcome Cardinal Josyf At Philadelphia Airport

PHILADELPHIA, Pa. — Archbishop-Major Josyf Cardinal Slipyj, Primate of the Ukrainian Catholic Church, was given an enthusiastic welcome here last Saturday, July 20, when he stepped off an Eastern Airlines Whispermjet to begin a three-week tour of Ukrainian centers in the United States.

Cardinal Josyf arrived in Philadelphia, the seat of the Ukrainian Catholic Metropolitan in the United States, after a five-week sojourn in Canada during which he visited Toronto, Winnipeg, Edmonton, Calgary, Saskatoon, Vancouver, Ottawa and Montreal.

Some 5,000 faithful from Philadelphia and neighboring communities gave a rousing welcome to the Ukrainian Cardinal at the International Airport.

Metropolitan Welcomes
Led by Archbishop Ambrose Senyshyn, Metropolitan of the Ukrainian Catholics in the United States, the welcoming party included Bishops Joseph Schmondiuk, of Stamford, and Jaroslav Gabro, of Chicago, as well as Msgr. Myroslaw Charyna, Msgr. Michael Fedorowich, Msgr. Walter Paska, Msgr. William Losten; Dr. Ivan Skalchuk, Ignatius M. Billinsky, Joseph Lesawyer, among civic leaders, and Warren Wiener, representing the mayor.

Accompanying the Cardinal on his journey from Montreal were: Archbishop Maxim Hermaniuk, Metropolitan of the Ukrainian Catholics in Canada, Bishops Isidore Borecky, of Toronto, Neil Savaryn, of Edmonton, and Msgr. Myroslaw Marusyn, the Cardinal's personal secretary. Bishop Andrew Roborecky, of Saskatoon, arrived on a different flight and joined the prelates for the welcoming ceremonies at the airport.

The crowd, awaiting the arrival of the plane carrying Cardinal Josyf and his party, assembled at the observation deck and along the passageway to the upper promenade. Rows of uniformed SUMA and Plast youths, as well as representative groups of dozens of Ukrainian civic and religious organizations, with banners waving, lined both sides of the passageway.

Youth, Children Greet
Hundreds of people strained to see the Cardinal, who was greeted first by Plast and SUMA members bearing bread and salt, which the Ukrainian Primate bent down to kiss, then by the children of the Orphanage maintained here by the Basilian Sisters, finally by Metropolitan Senyshyn, Dr. Skalchuk and city representative Wiener.

Speaking in both English and Ukrainian, the Metropolitan said that the Cardinal's visit in the United States "is a great inspiration for the Ukrainian Catholic Church and the Ukrainian people." Hailing the Ukrainian Confessor of the Faith as the "follower of Christ's Apostles," Metropolitan Senyshyn asked for the Cardinal's blessings and joint prayers for "the good of all Ukrainian people and of our Church."

In responding to the greetings, Cardinal Slipyj praised the accomplishments of Ukrainians in the United States and their contribution to the vast growth of "this great land of Washington" as well as their concern for the well-being of the Ukrainian people in their native land.

"We pray to the heavens for the well-being of the Ukrainian people and of the Ukrainian Catholic Church, that the Ukrainians in the United States remain forever bound in spirit with Mother-Ukraine and that they praise her name for the glory of God, the Church, the Ukrainian people, and for the good of

UNA Supreme Executive Committee Holds Quarterly Meeting; Reports Assets Of Over 34 Million. Membership Of 88,328

WELCOME TO CARDINAL SLIPYJ SET DOWN IN SEPARATE RESOLUTION

JERSEY CITY, N.J. — The Supreme Executive Committee of the Ukrainian National Association, assembled here at the home office July 19 for its regular quarterly meeting, set down a separate resolution welcoming Josyf Cardinal Slipyj "to Washington's free land" and promising him the full support of the UNA.

In the same resolution, the executive committee voiced the hope that the Cardinal's visit to the United States would further the desire of the Cardinal and the UNA to work for the establishment of a Ukrainian Patriarchate.

UNA Supreme Treasurer Peter Pucilo, beginning the series of executive officers' reports, said that the assets of the UNA during the first six months of 1968 had increased by $658,777.76 and that total UNA assets at the end of June stood at $34,177,475.38.

Dr. Jaroslaw Padoch, Supreme Secretary, discussed some of the organizing plans for the future and reported that the UNA had organized 1,900 members in the first six months of this year, as compared to 2,070 new members in the same period last year. Total membership at the end of June was 88,328.

A breakdown of the total membership figure was given by Supreme Vice-President Walter Sochan, who is also head of the recording department. He said that there were 26,900 members in the juvenile department, 58,333 members in the adult department and 3,092 ADD holders. An increase in the adult and ADD departments — 28 in the former and 155 in the latter — was offset by the loss of 116 members in the juvenile department, resulting in an actual gain of 67 members in the first six months of 1968.

Mr. Sochan noted that 13 of June 1 UNA members had received 76,664 dividend checks totalling $388,495.29.

He also pointed out the need for more intensive courses for branch secretaries and organizers so that they will be well-informed and properly prepared to sell UNA insurance.

The Canadian branch of the UNA gained 395 new members in the first six months of 1968, reported Supreme Vice-President Bohdan Zorych.

Mr. Zorych, who is the director of the UNA's Canadian office, compared that figure with the 409 new members gained during the same period in 1967.

Reporting as a Supreme Vice-President and as head of the UNA Women's Committee, Mrs. Mary Dushnyk

Marunchak Succeeds Kuryliw As President Of MUN Of Canada ELECTED AT 24TH NATIONAL CONVENTION

By MYRON B. KUROPAS

HAMILTON, Ont. — The Ukrainian National Youth Federation of Canada (MUNO), meeting here the weekend of June 28-July 1, elected Ted Marunchak to a two-year term as National President.

Born in Sudbury, Ontario, Ted has been a member of MUNO for 12 years and a member of the National Executive for the past four years. Recently married, he presently resides in Hamilton where he works as collection manager for Associates Acceptance and serves as a member of the Board of Directors of "New Pathway," a Ukrainian weekly published in Winnipeg.

Mr. Marunchak succeeds Ihor Kuryliw who was elected in Fort William in 1966. The new president wasted little time jumping into the "administrative saddle." A seminar entitled "Attitudes Towards Ukraine" is scheduled for Windsor the weekend of August 10 and 11.

The convention began on Friday, June 28 with registration at the Sheraton-Connaught Hotel. The afternoon was taken up by a visitor's tour of the Steel Company of Canada, Ltd.

And Now It's New York's Turn

As we go to press, Cardinal Josyf Slipyj, who last week arrived in Philadelphia on the second leg of his historic visit to North America, is arriving in Chicago, the third largest center of Ukrainian settlement in this country.

The Ukrainian Cardinal's itinerary will then take him to Detroit before he arrives in New York City on Wednesday, July 31. As the largest Ukrainian center in the United States, New York is rightly expected to put its best foot forward in welcoming the man who is undoubtedly the greatest living Ukrainian in the world.

During his sojourn in Canada, the Ukrainian Cardinal was met by thousands of people wherever he went. Last week in Philadelphia a crowd estimated at 5,000 met the Archbishop-Major at the airport, with double that number taking part in the Solemn Pontifical Liturgy which the Cardinal celebrated next day at the Spectrum arena. But the largest gathering to date was that which assembled in Toronto on June 16 for the Pontifical Liturgy at the Exhibition grounds. We believe that New York can top it.

In all due respect to other Ukrainian communities which have already planned elaborate welcoming ceremonies for the Ukrainian Primate, New York City is the metropolis of the world. It is also the center of Ukrainian national community life. With our compatriots from Connecticut and New Jersey joining the New Yorkers, the welcome for our Cardinal should turn into a veritable manifestation of our strength and unity for the world to see.

To be sure, the Cardinal's itinerary in the United States is such that everyone will have a choice as to the time and place of visitation. But we need not wait for the Cardinal to come and see us. Let us show the respect that he truly deserves by going out and meeting him in the city which is bound to notice it. Let us fill the Singer Bowl on August 3 and St. Patrick's Cathedral on August 10. And let us roll out the carpet for Cardinal Josyf at Kennedy Airport on July 31!

A Beehive Of Activity

Next weekend, the halls and paths at Soyuzivka will be a virtual beehive of youthful activity.

As more than 60 pre-teen girls conclude three weeks of summer camp with colorful closing exercises, several dozen boys and girls from various parts of the United States and Canada will be arriving to take part in this year's Ukrainian Cultural Courses.

For the students, the weekend will be the beginning of a pleasant month of education, recreation and new friendships, and — who knows — possibly even the start of one of those summer romances that lead to marriage.

This year's courses, the 15th sponsored by the Ukrainian National Association and the Ukrainian Youth League of North America Foundation, will include classes in Ukrainian history, literature, geography, culture and language. Dr. Basil Steciuk of Seton Hall University, who is director of the courses, heads a group of qualified teachers, including Prof. Roman Lewycky, who will give instruction in bandura playing, and Walter Bacad, folk dance teacher.

With classes scheduled only for the mornings, the students will have ample time to engage in extracurricular activities — swimming, tennis, volleyball, hiking. All of Soyuzivka's summer-time social activities are open to them — the weekly corn roasts, parties, dances and concert programs.

So have a ball, students — and may you study and play in good weather and good health!

RESURGENCE OF UKRAINIAN NATIONALISM

By TIBOR SZAMUEL

(This is the second installment of an article which appeared in the May 30, 1968 issue of The Reporter, a magazine published in the U.S.)

It would be blind to deny that the upheavals of the past half century have wrought profound and lasting changes in Ukraine—changes not only in the national or social composition of the population but in its world outlook and in the very nature of its national consciousness. For better or for worse, Ukraine is today far more open to non-Ukrainian influences than in any previous period. In this sense, I suppose, one can speak of the Bolsheviki nationalities policy as having been successful. But, as with so many other Communist "successes," this one has created problems more acute and more dangerous for the resurgency than the original unsatisfactory situation it was designed to remedy.

The old-style romantic peasant nationalism has been replaced by the modern, ideological nationalism of an industrialized, urbanized, and literate society. Whereas the

THE JULY CRISIS, 1968

By CLARENCE A. MANNING

Shortly after the outbreak of World War I in August, 1914, a Columbia University historian, carefully trained in the old nineteenth century methods, announced that there was an important difference between history and diplomacy.

The historian sought the truth as well as it could be learned. He wanted to know the facts. The diplomat, busied with events, had to reckon with what people at the moment assumed to be facts. He recognized that there was a wide difference between these two necessary occupations. Today, despite the ever increasing supply of reports, often computerized to a fault and transmitted with a speed faster than light, there still remains a great deal of truth which can only be overlooked at our peril, especially since we are all engrossed or terrified by the destructive forces of atomic power, the fallout and similar scientific wonders.

Can Chart Origin Yet the crisis that has appeared at the end of July, 1968, is both greater and smaller than it seems. We can chart its origin considerably earlier, just as the Bobrynski trials in Lviv in the spring of 1914 and the murder of Franz Ferdinand in Sarajevo in June prepared the way for the ultimatum to Serbia and the starting of hostilities. There were similar happenings in the spring of 1939 which paved the way for the sudden opening of hostilities in September of that year.

In 1968 there have been several months of unpleasant happenings — the unrest in many of the Communist countries and the various moves against the unpopular satellite regimes — but without seriously undermining the established order. There has been increased tension with Romania and a growing sense of independence but there has been little evidence of any concerted movements. Even the French students' strike and the resulting factory closings which gave the supporters of President DeGaulle the opportunity to come out with the truth about the Communist program was not apparently closely integrated to the general course of events.

Game of Primaries In the United States the usual meaningless game of primaries seemed to have even less point than usual and it assumed a real importance only when President Lyndon Baine Johnson announced that he was not going to be a candidate for a second term. The President's leading opponents on Vietnam had been involved to some degree. Now the rivals seemed confronted with a situation where they were being hoisted by their own petard. The murder of Senator Robert Kennedy threw the situation into still deeper confusion, as every candidate in both parties saw the necessity of trying to conduct a campaign based on a foreign policy which they could not influence until after the election and the beginning of a new administration. Various candidates sought to profit by all this but instead found themselves in a position where North Vietnam with its able, if aged, leader Ho Chi Minh, was able to involve them as his partisans perhaps more than they had intended.

This gave the Soviet Union a new lever which it has not hesitated to exploit. Knowing that President Johnson had been vitally interested for years in various measures intended to relieve the tensions on the outside fringes of the circle, Moscow quickly moved to accept all these proposals — a new consular treaty disadvantageous to the United States, proposals for a weekly flight from Moscow to New York, and new cultural agreements which bound the Soviet Union to little definite.

One-sided Concessions On the other hand, in a more practical vein, East Germany demanded passports from West Germans and from Berliners trying to travel back and forth by land and it scoffed at the protests of the United States, France and Great Britain on the ground that East Germany was an independent Communist state. Yet at the same time Moscow said in no indefinite words that despite all the concessions and agreements it maintained its full rights for interference in West German affairs and the task of denazification. In other words, all concessions were strictly one-sided and nothing could be changed in the basic agreements of the division of Germany into sectors.

That led up to the situation in Czechoslovakia, where the new leadership had succeeded in removing the old Stalinist boss, Antonin Novotny. Then by stressing the Czechoslovak agreements for military cooperation, Brezhnev and Kosygin succeeded in sending considerable Soviet military forces into Czechoslovakia for joint maneuvers. Those maneuvers are over but many of the troops have not yet been withdrawn. Will they be? The speech in the British House of Commons condemning Soviet embroilment in Czechoslovakia was all too suggestive of 1914 and 1939 for the comfort of at least the older persons who remembered both incidents. All we can say is "Absit omen!" May it not be a portent!

The situation in Czechoslovakia cannot fail to remind Ukrainians also of the reinroduction of charges against Khrushchev and the present some of the more patriotic Ukrainian writers of bourgeois nationalism and a desire for separatism—charges far more serious than those brought against the malcontent Russian writers who have already been sentenced to prison for their alleged misdeeds.

It is perhaps with malice aforethought that Brezhnev, in his demand for a conference with the Czechoslovak Communist leaders, chose as the site Moscow, Kiev or Lviv, since the last two cities were closer to Czechoslovak territory than Moscow but still in territory that Moscow is closely watching and which it desires to teach a lesson on the need of understanding that the big brother with its Communist party, the most progressive part of the working class, knows best.

Will the Czechoslovak leaders have the nerve to withstand and demand that they will meet only in Czechoslovak territory and perhaps after Kosice is freed of Soviet troops?

Perhaps we are seeing the beginning of a new series of attacks against the United States and West Germany on the lines traditional not only under Stalin but under both ered, with very little success. Communist anxiety about the rapid and "unhealthy" growth of Symonenko's unsponsored popularity became apparent after the publication abroad of some of the boldest of Symonenko's suppressed poems, together with his diary in 1965. The government's alarm, as well as the young people's enthusiasm, is easily understood when one reads lines such as these (from "Granite Obelisks"), referring to Ukraine after forty-five years of Soviet rule:

"In the cemetery of bullet-riddled illusions There is no longer any room for graves. Billions of faiths—buried in the soil. Billions of happinesses—smashed to smithereens."

At a crowded literary meeting in Kiev in January, 1965, in honor of Symonenko's thirtieth birthday, Ivan Dziuba, a close friend of the dead poet, openly declared, in the presence of the "Republic's" official ideological leaders: "Vasyl Symonenko is first and foremost a poet of the national idea. It is real for us today, and it represents the concept of a fully soverign state and cultural existence for the Ukrainian socialist nation." Words like these had probably not been heard in public since the liquidation of Ukraine's independence. The challenge was taken up. Soon a group of Symonenko's associates, including Dziuba and the critic Ivan Svitlychny, were arrested on charges of having smuggled the poet's manuscripts to the West and held in custody for several months. But the time-honored remedies of the KGB seem to have little effect nowadays. In September, 1966, after his release, Dziuba delivered a sensational speech at Babi Yar, where the Nazis had massacred sixty thousand Kiev Jews twenty-five years before.

This remarkable speech provides clear proof (as do a number of other documents) that the new Ukrainian national movement, so far from being anti-Semitic—as it had been, frequently and notoriously, in the past—is making common cause with the Jews, in whom it sees another minority subjected to even harsher oppression by the common enemy, who had long derived profit from pitting the two peoples against each other. "Babi Yar," declared Dziuba, "is our common tragedy."

can no longer sustain this monstrous edifice of hypocrisy. For the first time in years it has become possible to reconstruct a detailed (though obviously far from complete) record of recent terroristic measures against Ukrainian nationalism. After a few years of relative quiescence, large-scale arrests began once more in December, 1958, when the KGB uncovered an illegal United Party for the Liberation of Ukraine, organized by a group of young workers and students in Stanislaviv (now Ivano-Frankovsk).

Break Ground For New Church

DETROIT — Enthusiasm for the ground-breaking ceremonies of the new St. Mary's Protectress Ukrainian Cathedral Orthodox Church here was not dampened by rain, says a recent report in the Southfield Sun, Southfield, Mich.

The new church is located at 3530 29th Street. Bishop Alexander Novitsky blessed the ground and celebrated mass, together with the local pastor, the Very Rev. Nicholas Lytwakowsky. Father Lytwakowsky was in charge of the blessing and ceremonies. Afterwards, a banquet was held in the hall of the Romanian St. George's Cathedral.

Through our religious and youth groups, our cultures and choral music, we shall add our religious and cultural traditions to your city," the audience was told.

The church, first founded in 1888, still practices the liturgy of the Byzantine church without change. The Detroit area congregation, founded in 1951, now numbers 300 families from Southfield, Warren, Livonia and Detroit.

New UNA Branch in Houston, Tex.

JERSEY CITY, N. J.—The UNA head office has announced that a new UNA Branch—number 28—has been formed in Houston, Tex., with Mrs. Stephania Iskiw as president. Victor Balko, head of the local branch of the Ukrainian Congress Committee of America, who was most active in the organization of the UNA branch, is its secretary.

Other branch officers are George Horan, treasurer, Myron Balaban, alternate secretary, and Mrs. Stephania Kott, head of the auditing committee. The formation of the branch was assisted by UNA Supreme Advisor Dmytro Popadynets, Stephen Kichtan and Prof. Oleh Fedyshyn of Rice University.

Council Seat

DETROIT — John Beck, brother of Detroit Councilwoman Mary Beck, has thrown his hat into the ring for a year seat on the City Council.

Mr. Beck, a member of UNA Branch 75, is among 47 candidates who are vying for two vacant Council seats.

The chances for the Ukrainian candidate appear good, as he has been unusually active on the American political scene during the last 35 years and is well known in Detroit.

Mr. Beck has held various positions in the county government, and has served as a member of the State Legislature.

Liturgy on Sunday

On Sunday, July 21, Cardinal Josyf presided over a Pontifical Divine Liturgy, celebrated at the Spectrum arena, with some 10,000 faithful, clergy and youth participating. Celebrating the Liturgy were: Metropolitan Senyshyn and Hermaniuk, Bishops Schmondiuk, Gabro, Borecky, Roborecky and Savaryn, as well as Fathers Nicholas Kohut, Walter Kravewsky, Vasyl Tanchak, Stephen Chehansky, Vasyl Solovej. Serving as deacons were Fathers Charyna and Russell Danylichuk. Responses were sung by the united choir of Philadelphia, which included members from four parish choirs.

Archbishop John Cardinal Krol, of Philadelphia, took part in the services. More than 2,000 faithful, including many youths, received Holy Communion during the services.

Metropolitan Senyshyn again welcomed the Ukrainian Confessor of the Faith, The Cardinal, in his sermon, stressed the need for unity of the Ukrainian Catholic Church and of all Ukrainians. He called for "dedication to the teachings of Christ and the Universal Church," and for continued preservation of Ukrainian rite and heritage.

The Cardinal also imparted the Pope's blessings, stating that the Holy Father is aware of "our trials and the suffering of our people, as well as their aspirations."

The Liturgy, which began with a processional at 11:00 a.m., was celebrated at a huge altar erected in the northern section of the comfortably air-conditioned arena, with the dignitaries, clergy, youth and faithful seated filling to capacity the lower balcony.

Gift from Youth After the Liturgy, the Ukrainian Archbishop-Major was greeted by the Ukrainian youth, numbering 1,200. Seven-year-old Natalka Kowalyszyn, dressed in Ukrainian national costume, greeted the Cardinal and presented him with a gift—a three-pronged candelabra carved in Ukrainian style.

Also greeting the Ukrainian Primate was Andriy Chornodolsky, external affairs chairman of the World Union of Ukrainian Students. Cardinal Josyf, in addressing the assembled youth, stressed the need for "knowledge, erudition, strong moral character, and faith in Christ," as the precepts of a good and happy life. "You are the future of the Ukrainian nation," said the Cardinal, "and you must be prepared to assume the responsibility for the fate of the Ukrainian people. Learn, acquire knowledge, be strong in spirit and follow the teachings of God," concluded the Cardinal.

After a brief rest at the Metropolitan Chancery Office, the Cardinal met with the clergy and civic leaders at an informal reception in the afternoon.

UCCA Delegation On Monday, the Archbishop-Major received a delegation of Ukrainian civic leaders representing the Ukrainian Congress Committee of America. Headed by Joseph Lesawyer, Executive Vice-President, the delegation included the following: Msgr. M. Charyna, Mrs. Stefania Pushkar, Lev Futala, I. Bilinsky, Stephen Sprynsky, Dr. Walter Gallan, Dr. Walter Dushnyck, Ivan Bazarko, Prof. Roman Smal-Stocki, Prof. George Machuk, Paul Dorozynsky, and Mstyslav B. Dolnycky. Mr. Lesawyer, speaking for the UCCA Executive Board, expressed joy over the Cardinal's visit in the United States and informed him of the activities pursued by the UCCA in support of the Ukrainian cause. The Cardinal said that he is acquainted with UCCA's work and objectives. "We need an organization like the UCCA." The Ukrainian Archbishop-Major stressed the need for unity and cooperation within the Ukrainian community, pointing to the many objectives that have yet to be attained.

this great land of Washington." City Is Yours' Mr. Wiener, in welcoming the Ukrainian Primate, said that Philadelphia does not have the custom of presenting keys to the visiting dignitaries because "our city has no gates, no walls."

"The city is yours, Your Eminence, and we hope you have a fine stay here," said the city representative. Making his way through milling throngs, which the escort had a hard time restraining, the Cardinal stopped occasionally to bless the throng and to impart a warm word of greeting. The Cardinal and the entire party were taken by limousine under police escort to the Metropolitan's Chancery Offices on Franklin street.

Over 500 persons attended the Welcoming Banquet in the Grand Ballroom of the Sheraton Hotel, where the main address was delivered by Archbishop Senyshyn.

Greetings were extended by Dr. Lev E. Dobriansky, president of the Ukrainian Congress Committee of America, and Mr. Wiener, who presented to Cardinal Slipyj a miniature replica of the historic Liberty Bell as a symbol of the freedom which the Cardinal had heroically guarded.

A musical interlude was provided by mezzo-soprano Alicia Andreadis, accompanied at the piano by Prof. Bohdan Perfetky, and the Pro-metheus Male Chorus under the direction of Roman Stepaniak, and with Irene Chumak as accompanist. Msgr. Charyna was toastmaster.

Liturgy on Sunday On Sunday, July 21, Cardinal Josyf presided over a Pontifical Divine Liturgy, celebrated at the Spectrum arena, with some 10,000 faithful, clergy and youth participating. Celebrating the Liturgy were: Metropolitan Senyshyn and Hermaniuk, Bishops Schmondiuk, Gabro, Borecky, Roborecky and Savaryn, as well as Fathers Nicholas Kohut, Walter Kravewsky, Vasyl Tanchak, Stephen Chehansky, Vasyl Solovej. Serving as deacons were Fathers Charyna and Russell Danylichuk. Responses were sung by the united choir of Philadelphia, which included members from four parish choirs.

Archbishop John Cardinal Krol, of Philadelphia, took part in the services. More than 2,000 faithful, including many youths, received Holy Communion during the services.

Metropolitan Senyshyn again welcomed the Ukrainian Confessor of the Faith, The Cardinal, in his sermon, stressed the need for unity of the Ukrainian Catholic Church and of all Ukrainians. He called for "dedication to the teachings of Christ and the Universal Church," and for continued preservation of Ukrainian rite and heritage.

The Liturgy, which began with a processional at 11:00 a.m., was celebrated at a huge altar erected in the northern section of the comfortably air-conditioned arena, with the dignitaries, clergy, youth and faithful seated filling to capacity the lower balcony.

Gift from Youth After the Liturgy, the Ukrainian Archbishop-Major was greeted by the Ukrainian youth, numbering 1,200. Seven-year-old Natalka Kowalyszyn, dressed in Ukrainian national costume, greeted the Cardinal and presented him with a gift—a three-pronged candelabra carved in Ukrainian style.

Also greeting the Ukrainian Primate was Andriy Chornodolsky, external affairs chairman of the World Union of Ukrainian Students. Cardinal Josyf, in addressing the assembled youth, stressed the need for "knowledge, erudition, strong moral character, and faith in Christ," as the precepts of a good and happy life. "You are the future of the Ukrainian nation," said the Cardinal, "and you must be prepared to assume the responsibility for the fate of the Ukrainian people. Learn, acquire knowledge, be strong in spirit and follow the teachings of God," concluded the Cardinal.

After a brief rest at the Metropolitan Chancery Office, the Cardinal met with the clergy and civic leaders at an informal reception in the afternoon.

UCCA Delegation On Monday, the Archbishop-Major received a delegation of Ukrainian civic leaders representing the Ukrainian Congress Committee of America. Headed by Joseph Lesawyer, Executive Vice-President, the delegation included the following: Msgr. M. Charyna, Mrs. Stefania Pushkar, Lev Futala, I. Bilinsky, Stephen Sprynsky, Dr. Walter Gallan, Dr. Walter Dushnyck, Ivan Bazarko, Prof. Roman Smal-Stocki, Prof. George Machuk, Paul Dorozynsky, and Mstyslav B. Dolnycky. Mr. Lesawyer, speaking for the UCCA Executive Board, expressed joy over the Cardinal's visit in the United States and informed him of the activities pursued by the UCCA in support of the Ukrainian cause. The Cardinal said that he is acquainted with UCCA's work and objectives. "We need an organization like the UCCA." The Ukrainian Archbishop-Major stressed the need for unity and cooperation within the Ukrainian community, pointing to the many objectives that have yet to be attained.

can no longer sustain this monstrous edifice of hypocrisy. For the first time in years it has become possible to reconstruct a detailed (though obviously far from complete) record of recent terroristic measures against Ukrainian nationalism. After a few years of relative quiescence, large-scale arrests began once more in December, 1958, when the KGB uncovered an illegal United Party for the Liberation of Ukraine, organized by a group of young workers and students in Stanislaviv (now Ivano-Frankovsk).

Postpone Program

The UNA Women's Program planned for August 18 at Soyuzivka has been postponed because of the visit to this country of Cardinal Slipyj, UNA Supreme Vice-President Mrs. Mary Dushnyk has reported.

A new date for the event will be announced later.

MUN CONVENTION INCLUDES ELECTIONS, BANQUET, "TREMENDOUS" CONCERT

Catharines, Sudbury, Hamilton and Port Arthur attended sessions on Saturday at the Ukrainian National Federation Hall. Hamilton branch president Pat Lytwyn welcomed delegates and guests. Jerry Bilak, President of the Ukrainian National Federation (UNO), followed Miss Lytwyn, calling MUNO "the future of UNO." Mr. Kuryliw welcomed all on behalf of the national executive.

The delegates next elected Bohdan (Boxie) Klymkiv convention chairman and this was followed by executive reports, branch reports and the election of new officers. Electing officers on Saturday was an innovation aimed at permitting the new executive more time to discuss future plans.

UNA Advisor

Congratulating the newly elected officers on behalf of the Ukrainian National Association was Myron B. Kuropas, UNA Supreme Advisor, who emphasized the many similarities between the UNA and MUNO and urged greater cooperative effort in the future.

Also addressing the delegates was Fred Ihnatuk, President of the Canadian-Ukrainian Youth Association (SUMK). The sessions were followed by a panel discussion around the convention theme: "International Human Rights."

Panelists included Andrew Gregorovich, editor of "Forum," a UWA publication, and Ihor Kuryliw.

Dr. Raymond Doskotch, an associate professor of biochemistry at Ohio State University and a former Hamilton MUNO member, was the first guest speaker at the Saturday night banquet.

Gained Appreciation

Dr. Doskotch reminisced about his early MUNO days and the occasional misunderstandings he had had with those of the older generation who had urged him to "Ukrainian activity." "Sure," he said, "I often wondered if being active in dance groups, theater groups, and other Ukrainian cultural activities was worth it. Let's face it, very often it was hard work!

Today I can sincerely say that all that early effort was worth it. Today I know that thanks to those who kept after me, I learned self-discipline, developed a positive ethnic self-image, and gained a wonderful appreciation for my Ukrainian heritage; an appreciation that has not left me in all the years I've been away."

The next speaker was Prof. Walter Tarnopolsky, a highly articulate Canadian of Ukrainian descent. Author of a 246 page treatise entitled "The Canadian Bill of Rights," Mr. Tarnopolsky, a law professor at the University of Toronto, is presently an executive member of the Canadian Commission for Human Rights.

Human Rights Problem

"In thinking about human rights," stated Prof. Tarnopolsky, "there is only one basic question that all of us must ask ourselves... Am I my brother's keeper? The significance of the vastly complicated human rights problem lies in the answer to that simple question."

Also attending the banquet was His Worship Victor Kr Copps, Mayor of Hamilton, who presented outgoing president Ihor Kuryliw with a "Hamilton Booster Bonnet" (a yellow steel worker's helmet emblazoned with the Hamilton city emblem.)

Not to be outdone, MUNO's western contingent, led by M. Hawryliuk presented Mayor Copps with a plaque signed by Mayor Stephen Juba designating the Hamilton mayor an honorary citizen of Winnipeg.

Another distinguished guest at the head table was Lincoln Alexander, the first Negro elected to Canada's parliament. "Link" as he is called by his supporters, acknowledged the help he received during the recent campaign from the Ukrainians of Hamilton, and proudly pointed to his "Ukrainian Power" button. All delegates received such a button in their convention package, courtesy of Milton Hewak, a Ukrainian realtor in the Hamilton area.

There is only one word to describe the Sunday afternoon concert at Scott Park Auditorium — tremendous! It is difficult for a Ukrainian American to describe a Ukrainian Canadian concert, since we in the States have very little with which to really compare... Would you believe over 150 youth (ages 3 through 28) in one concert?

The Canadians are obviously in a league by themselves and the Hamilton concert was just that kind of an affair. The entire performance was imaginative and exciting — the Rusalka Dance Ensemble from Winnipeg; the Junior Chaika Choir and Dance Ensemble from Hamilton; the Kalyna Girl's Choir from Toronto; the Dunai Choir and Dance Ensemble from St. Catharines; and the Kapella Bandurist Ensemble from Sudbury. If you've never had the good fortune to attend a MUNO concert, or any concert in Canada for that matter, you're missing a rare opportunity to "respond" as a Ukrainian in North America. Having attended three previous MUNO conventions and a variety of MUNO concerts, seminars, banquets, and other affairs during the past eight years, this reporter has been "overwhelmed" so many times that he felt Hamilton couldn't possibly match anything he had seen before. He was wrong. The 24th MUNO convention was as good, and in some respects better, than anything before.

UNA Executive Committee

made special note of the postponement of the women's program planned for this summer at Soyuzivka. Due to the visit of Cardinal Slipyj, the program will be held at a later date.

Supreme Vice-President Stephen Kuropas told of his efforts to acquire and educate new organizers.

A report on the status of UNA publications and future plans was given by Svoboda Editor A. Dragan.

In summing up reports, Supreme President Joseph Lesawyer stated that the yield from UNA investments has been higher. Larger amounts have been invested in bonds, smaller amounts in mortgage loans.

Mr. Lesawyer noted that expenses had increased. Payments of dividends to members had totalled over $380,000 by June 1 as compared to $220,000 in the same period five years ago. Organizational and administrative expenses had also increased.

He said that new members have been buying larger amounts of insurance, but a negative aspect of the first six months of 1968 has been the decrease of members in the juvenile department.

Among many decisions and motions made at the meeting was the decision to raise interest rates on mortgage loans to 6 1/2 percent in the United States and to seven percent in Canada.

SPORTS SCENE

The Tennis Addiction

Soyuzivka, N. Y. — "Tennis is like alcohol once it gets in your bloodstream," Sargeant Shriver, 52, United States Ambassador to France, was quoted as having said during a match at Wimbledon, England, in the senior men's doubles recently.

The same tennis addiction was in evidence two weeks ago at the Ukrainian spa here as the young and old (in years only) bounded nimbly across the five courts, stretching for volleys and scrambling for lob.

Soyuzivka Tourney

It was the annual Soyuzivka tennis tournament time again and it drew some 40 participants. The number clearly indicated, however, that, like last year, the championship was not about to be decided early but would be dragged out for some weeks.

But, whether a champion was to be crowned or not, it was a pleasant sight to see so many participants hopping around under a scorching sun hoping to reach as far as possible in the standings.

As the competition in which Ambassador Shriver was taking part indicated, tennis is still "a gentleman's game." The few onlookers on the sidelines or on the grassy slopes which surround the tennis courts applauded politely when a player made a good move but no one yelled "kill the referee."

Gentlemanly Sport

Having covered numerous other competitions, team and individual, it is a refreshing interlude. Perhaps the only other sport which commands such gentlemanly behavior is, believe it or not, weightlifting.

While in Mexico City on assignment to cover the pre-Olympic games last October, weightlifting was one of the sports which was new to this reporter. The sport is also underrated. It was not only entertaining but very exciting. But above all, the crowd, which, by the way, filled the place to capacity, was the best behaved this reporter had ever encountered.

Tennis, to be sure, has its drawbacks. It still clings to what many maintain is an outmoded way of scoring points. Many proposals for changes have been made but few made any headway. The purists maintain that if the scoring system were to be changed the game would lose its charm. The practical observers say however, that if the system were modernized it would attract many more spectators.

Amateurs Do Well

For many years the game was believed to be that of the rich, and in fact some of the rules indicate this clearly. But recently some of these archaic rules and beliefs have been falling by the wayside. The latest of course is the amateur status. As it turned out some of the best amateurs did quite well against the best professional players in recent tournaments.

The payment-for-play myth is successfully being destroyed. No one believes now that an amateur, unless he has private means, can afford to compete and practice without financial support. It is equally false that amateurs are those who can afford to be amateurs.

The tournament at Soyuzivka has no such problems. All the players are amateurs. But it does have a problem with organization. Forty participants are not able, with success, to complete a gruelling tournament like that in two days.

Everyone wants to play but it was evident last weekend that not everyone respects the assigned starting time. That's the way to cut the field down to those who are "really interested."
