Senator Young Receives "Shevchenko Freedom Award"

Senator Milton R. Young of North Dakota (second from the left) was presented the Shevchenko Freedom Award for "services rendered to the cause of freedom." A long-time friend of the Ukrainian Americans, Sen. Young received the award from Dr. Lev E. Dobriansky, president of the Ukrainian Congress Committee of America (second right) in conjunction with the Senate observance of the 52nd anniversary of Ukrainian independence. The ceremony was held Thursday, January 29th. On Tuesday, January 27, the UCCA presented the award to House Chaplain, Rev. Edward G. Latch. Others in the photo above are, left to right, Bohdan Skasiv, of the Washington UCCA branch, Very Rev. Basil Makueh, Rector of St. Joseph's Ukrainian Catholic Seminary, and Theodore Caryk, also a member of the Washington UCCA branch.

N.Y. Concert To Honor Shevchenko

NEW YORK, N.Y. (AL)—Taras Shevchenko, the poet laureate of Ukraine, will be honored here, Sunday, March 1, 1970, in the auditorium of the High School of Fashion Industries at 5:00 in the evening.

The event, co-sponsored jointly by the United American Ukrainian Organizations of New York and the Shevchenko Scientific Society of the United States, is billed "In Tribute to Taras Shevchenko" and will feature a varied program, whose principal performers will be the youth of this community.

Dramatic Montage

The Dramatic Studio, under the direction of Mrs. Lidia Krushelnytsky will dramatize a few montages of the works of Taras Shevchenko, while the very young from the School of Ballet conducted by the talented and well known Mrs. Roma Pryma-Bohachevsky will provide a choreographic arrangement to "Rozryta Mohyla."

Thor Sonevitsky, noted composer, will add to the musical part of the evening by accompanying both groups and offering at the same time three of his own compositions.

Excerpts from Shevchenko will be read by Mr. Joseph Hirniak, the famous actor and former director of the Lviv State Theater of Ballet and Opera.

Soloist

Young mezzo-soprano Christine Osadca-Pauskils, a graduate of the Juilliard School of Music, will perform two compositions by I. Sonevitsky.

Perhaps the most original aspect of the evening, enriching all the performances, promises to be the stage arrangement and lighting effects being prepared by Wolodymyr Kasian, a recent graduate of Cooper Union.

Bishop Alexander, of Orthodox Church, Dies in Chicago

BOUND BROOK, N.J. — The Most Rev. Alexander Novytsky, Bishop of the Ukrainian Orthodox Church of the USA, died in Chicago Thursday, February 12, on the day he was scheduled to attend the Church's council here. Bishop Alexander was 65 years old.

Head of the Ukrainian Orthodox Church's Chicago Eparchy, Bishop Alexander informed the Consistory in Bound Brook, N.J., earlier that he would not be able to attend the scheduled council because of ill health. On the very day of the council's convocation, the tragic news came that the Bishop had died.

Born in Ukraine in 1905, Bishop Alexander studied theology of the Warsaw University and was ordained into priesthood shortly after his graduation. He was a pastor in Volhynia from 1934 through 1940, and until the end of the war he served on the Consistory of the Ukrainian Orthodox Church in the Generalgouvernement.

Bishop Alexander Novytsky

The end of World War II found the Bishop in Germany where he shared the lot of thousands of Ukrainian refugees. He served as pastor, first in Landshut, then in France until 1950 when he left for Canada. He was pastor in Dauphin, Man., and

FIRST RELIEF SHIPMENT TO LEAVE FOR YUGOSLAVIA

BANJA LUKA AUTHORITIES PLAN SCHOOL, SUMMER CAMP FOR UKRAINIANS IN PRNJAVOR REGION; RELIEF EFFORT CONTINUES, VOLUNTEERS NEEDED; PHILADELPHIA FIRM DONATES $20,000 FOR UKRAINIAN QUAKE VICTIMS

JERSEY CITY, N. J. — Eighty-one huge crates, containing close to 30,000 pounds of clothing, footwear and other articles of daily use, are scheduled to leave for Yugoslavia Tuesday, Feb. 24, aboard a transport ship, according to Marian Kots, director of the Ukrainian Relief Committee's warehouse here.

Ship Leaves N.Y.

The huge boxes, professionally crated by Mr. Kots and his helpers, mostly Ukrainian volunteer workers from Jersey City and the neighboring areas, were delivered by trucks to the Brooklyn pier where they were loaded aboard the Yugoslavian transport ship. Each crate is marked "United Ukrainian American Relief Committee" and addressed to Prof. Ivan Pecuh, head of the Banja Luka relief committee.

It is expected that the relief will reach its destination — Banja Luka — some time in March.

The United Ukrainian American Relief Committee's warehouse in Jersey City, located at 1213-1217 Summit Avenue (Tel.: 795-2155), operates daily, with clothing and footwear coming in from both the neighboring and distant areas.

Mr. Kots, who is in charge of the operation, said that most of the articles received so far are for adults. There is great need of clothing and footwear for youngsters and children.

Also in great demand is help, said Mr. Kots, "volunteers who would be willing to devote a few hours a week to help sort and crate the items at the warehouse."

So far, Mr. Kots had a great deal of assistance from Jersey City residents, Mr. Roman Kachimarsky, Eustachii Yasenowsky, Osyp Kejsa and Franz Kolodij.

Last week, members of the Ukrainian National Women's League of America offered assistance in the effort.

Very Rev. Anthony Borsa, pastor of SS. Peter and Paul Ukrainian Catholic Church and New Jersey Dean, asked all pastors in the deanery, to appeal for volunteer assistance from parishioners. Ukrainian youth organizations have also been asked to help.

Ambassador's Telegram

In the meantime, it has been learned that the Yugoslav authorities in Banja Luka, heartened by the Ukrainian relief effort here, have agreed to open an elementary school in the Prnjavor region, where the Ukrainian population is largest, and to establish summer camps for children of all Bosnia with programs of Ukrainian music, folklore and history.

This information was supplied by United States Ambassador William Leonhart in a telegram to the State Department in Washington, dated February 7th.

Mr. Leonhart reported that the offer had been made by (Continued on Page 3)

Chicago Committee Plans Full Weekend For UNA Bowlers

CHICAGO, Ill. — Known for its hospitality and imaginative approach to every function, Chicago is planning to go all out in preparing for the 5th National UNA Bowling tournament slated for May 2nd.

With a record number of entries expected, the local committee, prodded and assisted by two members of UNA's national sports committee, devotes as much time to bowling as to social functions to make the tourney a complete success.

Friday Social

Plans for a Friday night welcome social and a Sunday morning continental breakfast were outlined at a meeting held Sunday, February 8, at St. Joseph's Ukrainian Catholic Church clubhouse, according to Mrs. Helen Olek, UNA Supreme Advisor and secretary of the national sports committee.

Also attending the meeting was John Evanchuk, Supreme Auditor and president of the national sports committee, who offered suggestions assistance to the local committee.

Chaired by Mike Redosh, tournament committee chairman, the meeting heard reports on the progress made so far and new suggestions for a smooth and successful tourney.

Name Treasurer

Reports were rendered by Mrs. Kay Ewanic and Mrs. Olek, chairman and co-chairman of publicity, Mike Krywanio and Mrs. Stephanie Pucilo, in charge of preparing the program book; Mrs. Olga Kozak and Mrs. Olga Dacisw, banquet and social.

Named treasurer of the committee was Theodore Dunaki. Reporting on tournament details, including a new ABC rulling on bowlers' averages, was John Evasiuk, secretary.

The tournament, in men's, women's, doubles and singles events, will be held at Holiday Lanes, 4747 N. Harlem Avenue here. Cash prizes in excess of $1,000, as well as trophies, will go to the winners. Deadline for entries is April 10. (See advertisement on p. 3 of this issue).

GOP NATIONALITIES COUNCIL GRANTED CHARTER IN ILLINOIS

CHICAGO, Ill. — The Republican State Nationalities Council of Illinois, an arm of the Republican National Committee's Division of Heritage Groups (Nationalities), has been granted a state charter, according to Myron B. Kuropas of Chicago, newly elected president. Mr. Kuropas, noted Ukrainian American educator, is Supreme Advisor of the Ukrainian National Association.

Formation of the Illinois federation brings to four the number of stage groups that have been organized throughout the country. Michigan, Minnesota and New Jersey have chartered similar nationality groups and a number of other states are planning similar movements, according to Mr. Kuropas.

Pledge Made Good

President Nixon, in his 1968 Presidential campaign, pledged to make the nationality groups a permanent arm of the Republican party. That promise reached fruition last year through the efforts of Laszlo Pasztor, national director of the National Committee's Heritage Groups. The Illinois council now is seeking a national charter.

Fifteen nationalities are represented in the Illinois federation, according to Mr. Kuropas. They are Albanian, Bulgarian, Byelorussian, Cro-

Pucilo Named to Board of Voluntary Action Center

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Peter Pucilo, Supreme Treasurer of the Ukrainian National Association and vice-president of the Ukrainian National Republican Federation, has been appointed to the Board of Directors of the National Center for Voluntary Action.

The Center, a non-profit and non-partisan organization, has been established by President Nixon to encourage and to assist effective voluntary action throughout the private sector.

In a telegram to Mr. Pucilo, the President said that he "was looking forward to working closely with the Center in its efforts to mobilize the energies and talents of all Americans for the tasks that we face together."

The Center is designed to assist citizens engaged in community projects as volunteers. It will use private funds but work with government officials. The board members are expected to provide professional skills and organizational experience to the volunteers.

Mr. Nixon, in his congratulatory telegram to Mr. Pucilo, voiced hope that "with the continued commitment of yourself and other public-spirited citizens, the national program for voluntary action will do much to fulfill the promise of America."

NEW UNA HEADQUARTERS - A SKYSCRAPER ON THE HUDSON

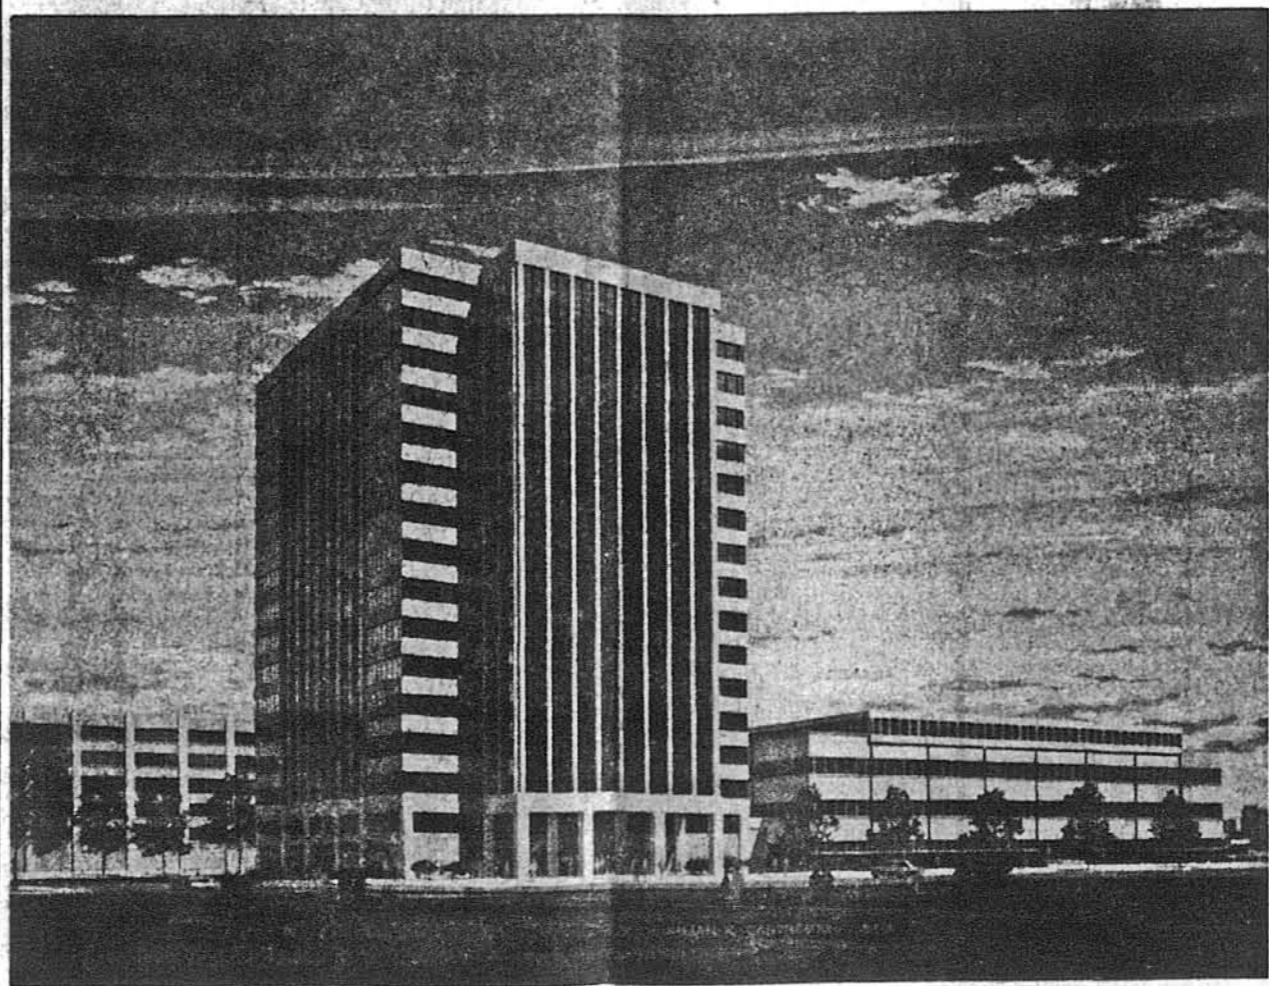

Photo above shows the artist's design of the 15-story skyscraper which will house the Ukrainian National Association and the Svoboda Press. Located in Jersey City, N.J., a stone's throw away from the Hudson River opposite the famous Manhattan skyline, the new building will be the largest Ukrainian structure in the free world. Construction is scheduled to begin this spring with completion targeted for the fall of 1971. The architects are Julian K. Jastremsky and Apollinare Osadca, both of New York. Adjacent to the First Jersey National Bank (seen on the right), the building will also provide office space — some 18,000 sq. feet — for other firms and industrial enterprises which are now applying to the UNA for rentals. The neighboring bank has already reserved two stories for its own use.

AMBRIDGE, Pa. — The UNA Penn-Ohio Bowling tournament, in past years one of the most successful sports events in the area, is being revived this year by the indefatigable men of St. Basil's Branch 161 in Ambridge, Pa.

The tourney is scheduled for Saturday, April 18, two weeks before the big one — UNA's National — in Chicago. Though not intended as a tune-up for the big money, the Penn-Ohio tourney will undoubtedly strengthen the area bowlers' chances when they encounter the opposition in the Windy City.

Made Their Mark

The men and women from Derry, Ambridge and the neighboring areas, all solid competitors and excellent bowlers, have already made their mark on the national scene as attested by the trophies and cash prizes that they had won in previous UNA tournaments. No doubt, they have their eyes set on the more than $1,000 in cash prizes and nicely carved hardware that will go to the Chicago tourney winners.

At this time, however, Ambridge is feverishly preoccupied with the Penn-Ohio event that has the reputation of being a fine tourney and fun-filled social event.

Fair Oaks Lanes have been reserved for the tourney scheduled to get under way at 11:30 a.m. It will be all team bowling with no handicaps. Men, women and youngsters 16 years of age and under may enter the tourney and vie for the prizes to be awarded the same night at the UNA Club which is the pride of the local community.

Entry Deadline

Entry blanks have now been sent out to all UNA branches in Pennsylvania and Ohio, says tournament chairman Stanley Prokopovich. Entry fees are $4.00 per adult (or $20.00 per team) and $3.00 per youngster (or $15.00 per team). Mr. Prokopovich asks that all entry blanks be returned no later than April 14th.

A buffet will be served for bowlers and guests after the tourney at the SS. Peter and Paul school auditorium. A dance at the UNA Club will conclude the day's activities.

LANGUAGE CLASSES AT INSTITUTE

Meaningful Anniversaries

Each year on February 22nd, America pays tribute to its founder and first President, George Washington. History's appeal of the "Father of Our Country" to this truly great man is as just as the principles that he defended in the critical years of the newly born nation's struggle for liberty and sovereignty.

Volunteers Needed

Now that the relief effort for Ukrainians in Yugoslavia has assumed streamlined and efficient forms, what is needed most is volunteer help to keep it going. The response of our community here and in Canada has been most commendable, attesting both to the deep-seated concern of our people for their brothers in need and to the wholly remarkable ability to rally in times of disaster.

A NEW GOLDEN AGE FOR UKRAINE

The following lecture was delivered by Dr. Arthur P. Coleman on Thursday, February 5, at the Ukrainian Institute of America in New York. The presentation was made as part of the Ivan Franko series of lectures sponsored by the UCCA.

GEORGE WASHINGTON: MARKS OF RESOLUTE LEADER

By CLARENCE A. MANNING

During most of the early nineteenth century, George Washington, Commander-in-Chief of the American Continental Army and later First President of the United States of America, was commonly hailed as the Father of his Country.

Towards the end of the century when a new mood began to spread in favor of snobbing downward, there was a tendency in some quarters to acclaim Abraham Lincoln, President during the Civil War, as the typical poor boy making good and glorifying him at the expense of Washington.

It is perfectly true that Washington, partly by his own efforts and partly by the nature of the age in which he lived, appears as a cold, inanimate figure. This was helped along by the notorious Parson Weems, an itinerant book seller, who told the most preposterous stories about the virtues of Washington and made his austere figure still more unendurable.

Yet as we know from more objective sources, Washington's self-control was due rather to his own high resolutions acting upon a stormy temper, and there is much in his life that needs to be judged if we would know the man.

The American Army's toast to Washington was "the hoop to the barrel." Almost every one of his associates excelled him in their speciality.

General Knox knew more about artillery, Mad Anthony Wayne was more daring, Benjamin Franklin knew more about diplomacy, Alexander Hamilton about finances, Thomas Jefferson about philosophy, etc.

Washington received the man but declared that he did not know such an individual, though after a theoretical search, he returned the letter saying that no such person existed and signed it "George Washington, Commander-in-Chief of the Continental Army of the United States."

We may well wonder when and where Washington received an education. He rarely went to school and when he was not at the home of Lord Fairfax, he was in the woods or in the fields.

Man of Determination. It is small wonder that the Governor of Virginia chose him to be the carrier of dispatches and messages from Williamsburg to the French outpost of Fort Duquesne near Pittsburgh in the negotiations that led up to the French and Indian War.

There can be no doubt that the same Washington would have acted again had the constitution proved unworkable. Yet when France threatened to resort to arms against the new state, Washington accepted what turned out to be a merely nominal post of commander against the French.

Service to Nation. It had been a full life with scarcely a period from 1740 to the end that he was not engaged in the service of his state, his country, and his nation.

Unanimous Choice. Yet that was not to be. The Articles of Confederation had provided for an insecure government, and if he had followed them in wartime, it was by a tremendous effort. Now it was time to try again.

When the Constitutional Convention met in 1787, he was chosen chairman. He rarely spoke, but there is reason to believe that behind the scenes he was one of the inspirers of the compromises, even of the much abused Electoral College, and when it was finally adopted, Washington was the unanimous choice of the Electors for President.

least in that happy time all hoped for, when they would be established in secure homes in the United States of America. From Panchak and his colleagues I learned to include Ukraine and matters Ukrainian in my concept of Slavdom. And it was high time! For by then I was well on my way to a Ph.D. in Slavic languages.

one Ukrainian. My father, a pioneer orchardist of Connecticut, had many East Europeans working for him, especially at harvest time, when they came in droves, to pick the apples and peaches he grew on the hills of Oxford township. There were Poles and Byelorussians, and of non-Slavs, Lithuanians. But no Ukrainians. I don't believe I ever even heard the word Ukrainian, though I had many friends among the men employed on our farm.

As I think back, I believe the first Ukrainian in my life whom I can identify precisely was a young Ukrainian refugee in Prague, Czecho-Slovakia. His name was Panchak, and his great mark of distinction was the office he held as President of the Ukrainian Automobile Club of Prague. I saw a lot of this Panchak, as of other refugees from the Bolshevik terror, and heard his great plans for the Club. Of course, not a single member had an automobile. How could they on the allowance the Czech government was able to spare for the thousands of refugees to whom it had given asylum. But the members were all automobile enthusiasts, every one, and there wasn't a soul among them who did not look forward to having one automobile at

I was a graduate student at Yale, when suddenly I decided I had had enough of French and Spanish and German, and the safe, well-marked road they would provide me, and embarked on the turbulent ocean of Slavdom. You could count on the fingers of one hand the universities offering a Slavic language, even one, and there were none, not even one, with a course in Ukrainian in its curriculum. That was 1918-1919. Ukrainian was totally untouched as a field of study, completely unexplored. Then think ahead fifty years. What do we have today? Ukrainian offered in all the major universities with a Slavic program, both here and in Canada. Not only that: a full-fledged Chair of Ukrainian Studies at Harvard, the university which, in the words of the seer, "heads all the rest." In the face of this, who can say this is not truly a wonderful age for us tonight?

Personally I have had a great voyage, a rich and exhilarating journey growing out of that fateful decision of mine in 1918. In that year, I confess that I myself had never had the slightest experience of anything or anytionary phenomenon, though in a temple of conservatism within the portals of Yale University.

Winners of Ukrainian Press Ball Contest

Daria Antonyshyn (center), representing the Ukrainian language weekly "New Pathway," was chosen, from among 16 entries as "Queen of the Ukrainian Press" in a contest held in conjunction with the annual press ball in Toronto Saturday, February 7. Selected first runner-up was Ulana Burij (left) who represented the Svoboda daily. The second runner-up was Daria Mainer, representing the "Song of Ukraine" radio program in Toronto.

Krawczuk Named UVC Commander

PHILADELPHIA, Pa. — Russell Y. Krawczuk, Philadelphia administrative assistant to Northeast Congressman Joshua Ellberg, has been elected commander of the United Veterans Council of Philadelphia.

Krawczuk joined Congressman Ellberg's staff shortly after his election to the House of Representatives in 1966. Previously Krawczuk had more than 20 years of Federal service as a specialist in government publications.

In 1969, he was senior vice-commander of the UVC of Philadelphia, comprised of 32 veterans groups with a total membership of about 100,000. From 1965 to 1967, Krawczuk was second vice-commander of the Pennsylvania Department of the Catholic War Veterans. A member of St. Joseph's Ukrainian Catholic parish in Frankford, he served seven terms as president of that church's Post 471 of the Catholic War Veterans.

He is an Army veteran of the Second World War with combat duty in Europe.

L.I. Ukrainians Plan Cultural Center

NEW YORK, N.Y. — St. Vladimir's Ukrainian Catholic Church in Hempstead, L.I., is planning a $300,000 parish center to meet its expanding needs in programs dealing with Ukrainian music, dance, art and related cultural activities as well as to provide larger facilities for the social life of the many parish organizations.

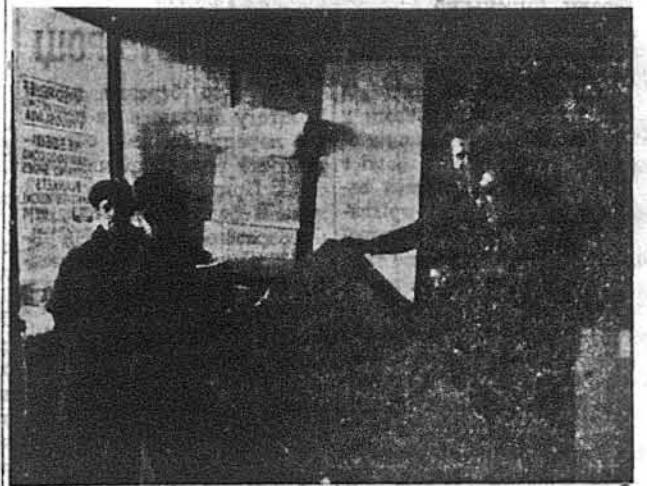

Aware of the inadequacy of available authoritative information relating to Ukraine's history, its religion and customs, St. Vladimir's hopes to include a library and reading room where serious students of Ukrainian history and culture can find the most extensive reference sources ever assembled under one roof in all of Long Island.

Designed by the Architectural firm of Mr. Ralph Mignone, of Babylon, L.I., the plans will feature a large general-purpose room with a stage suitable for presenting concerts, recitals and folk-dancing festivals, but which can be readily converted for banquets and other social activities.

Smaller rooms suitable for instruction, study and group discussions will be included in the design.

The Yugoslav authorities shortly after Joseph Lesawyer's departure from Belgrade, Mr. Lesawyer was sent to the stricken area by the JUARC on a fact-finding mission last month.

The UUARC, while continuing immediate relief action throughout the Ukrainian community in the U.S., is seeking $100,000 in a fund-raising drive to help the Ukrainian population in the stricken area to start reconstruction of homes, churches, schools, hospitals.

Last week, according to Dr. Walter Gallan, UUARC resident, a firm in Philadelphia contributed $20,000 for medical supplies and food for children. The firm wishes to remain anonymous.

Officials of the company discussed the relief effort with Dr. Gallan and Prof. Bohdan Hnatiuk, treasurer, and made the offer to help, with cash.

Funds Needed

Dr. Gallan also stressed the need for funds to help the victims in reconstruction which is expected to begin as soon as the areas are cleared of rubble and snow.

Other newly elected officers are William Belroy of Chicago (Hellenic), first vice-president; Joseph Zukowski of Chicago (Polish), second vice-president; Mrs. Gerald Stokes of Tinley Park (Latvian), recording secretary; Stephen Harmath of Evanston (Hungarian), corresponding secretary, and John Spatuzza of Oak Park (Italian), treasurer.

Mr. Kuropas, at a meeting of the GOP State Central Committee at which the Council's formation was announced, indicated that first and second generation Americans represent 40 million people in this country.

"It will be the function of the Illinois Council, as well as that of similar groups to be organized throughout the country, to tap this enormous resource of voting power on behalf of the Republican party," he declared.

The Council is conducting a concerted membership drive in Illinois and intends to serve as a vehicle to preserve the national heritage of its member groups.

It also will attest to the authenticity of a nationality group or leader pledging support to Republican candidates. All such support should be cleared through the Council in care of Mr. Kuropas, 1752 North Normandy, Chicago, Ill., 60635, as a protective measure.

Groups and individuals interested in affiliating with the Council are invited to write to the organization in care of Mr. Kuropas at the above address.
