NATIONAL FUND DRIVE EXCEEDS DESIGNATED MARK

NEW YORK, N.Y. — The intensive drive for the Ukrainian National Fund in December brought in a total that exceeded the designated $100,000 for the year, shattering in the process all previous records for a single month.

Responding to the UCCA appeal to raise $48,000 in December and thus bring the total for 1971 to $100,000, the Ukrainian community in the United States contributed $53,584.91, the highest total for December in the twenty-year history of the Ukrainian National Fund which constitutes the sole financial basis of the UCCA. The total for the year, therefore, amounts to $105,584.91.

The statistical breakdown on the 1971 National Fund drive was released by the UCCA last week, after the closing of the books as of January 6, 1972. The extra six days were added because

Move to End Job Discrimination Against Ethnic Americans

WASHINGTON, D. C. — László C. Pasztor, RNC Nationalities Director, praised Secretary of Labor Hodgson's executive order 11246 which seeks to end job discrimination against ethnic Americans.

The executive order requires that all government contractors and subcontractors take affirmative action to insure that Jews, Catholics and members of ethnic groups — particularly Eastern, Middle and Southern Europeans — receive fair treatment in hiring and promotion.

"This is one of the most significant proposals ever initiated for ethnic Americans by the federal government. It is one more indication of the Nixon Administration's determination to bring ethnic Americans into the mainstream of American life," Mr. Pasztor said.

Secretary Hodgson has signed for publication in the Federal Register proposed guidelines under executive order 11246, as amended, for

Anna Wachna Honored at 90

WINDSOR, Ont. — Some 200 relatives and friends — including most of her 119 descendants — were on hand Sunday, January 2, to honor Mrs. Anna Wachna on the grand old lady's 90th birthday.

The distinguished array of guests was led by Bishop Isidore Borecky, Eparch of the Ukrainian Catholic Diocese in Toronto, who celebrated a Divine Liturgy at the Villa Maria Chapel in Windsor. This was followed by a reception at the local Holiday Inn. There were telegrams and felicitations from many who could not attend, including a telegram from Donna Sawicky, Mrs. Canada 1972.

Mrs. Anna Wachna is a proud old lady as she celebrates her 90th birthday with three generations of descendants.

Pioneer in Manitoba

The mother of 15 children, Mrs. Wachna lives in Windsor now, but it was in Manitoba that she and her husband, who died in 1960, made their mark. They pioneered in the vicinity of Sturaburn, about 70 miles from Winnipeg, after coming to Canada from Ukraine.

Mrs. Wachna married when she was 15 and she and her husband farmed and operated two general stores during their busy life. Theodosiy Wachna, her husband, came to Manitoba in 1896 and a year later married Anna Prygrovity, like himself a recent immigrant from western Ukraine.

They began to farm, starting with two oxen and a cow. Before they could build their first barn, they had to clear the land.

Although not trained in law, Mrs. Wachna's husband became the local magistrate and notary public. He became involved in the local school situation. While holding other posts — such as that of a local postmaster — he organized 12 rural school districts and was secretary of the school board for a greater part of his life. He also became the recognized leader of the Ukrainian community in the area.

TUSM to Stage Protest Against Red Persecution

NEW YORK, N.Y. — January 22nd, the day which marks the anniversary of Ukrainian independence proclamation, has been chosen by the Ukrainian Student Organization of Michnowsky (TUSM) for the launching of nationwide demonstrations as a protest against the persecution of Ukrainian intellectuals and religious leaders in Ukraine by the Russo-Communist regime.

Similar protest actions are planned for all major centers of Ukrainian life in the U.S. during the week of January 22nd, said the announcement.

The demonstrations are intended as a protest "against the killing of Alla Horsky and Mykhaylo Soroka, against the incarceration of Archbishop Vasyl Velychokovsky, writers-revolutionaries Valentyn Moroz, Sviatoslav Karavansky, and many others."

Urge Mass Turnout

TUSM's national board was joined by the executive committee of the organization's New York branch in issuing a statement here announcing the protest action and appealing to the Ukrainian community for support.

The protest action is planned for the entire week beginning Saturday, January 22, through Saturday, January 29, according to the announcement.

The date of January 29th coincides with the anniversary of the Battle of Kruty, an event observed solemnly by Ukrainian youth throughout the free world.

Appeal to Youth

The organization called on "all youth and student organizations and the entire Ukrainian community" to take part in the planned protest actions.

Catholic Exarchate in Brazil Is Elevated to Eparchy

THE VATICAN.—The Apostolic Exarchate for the Ukrainian Catholics in Brazil has been elevated to an Eparchy by Pope Paul VI, according to Catholic News wire service.

Coadjutor Named

The Eparchy, with its seat in Curitiba, is headed by Bishop Joseph Martynetz. Bishop Martynetz, who has been ailing recently, was unable to attend the Fifth Archbishop Synod of the Ukrainian Catholic Church in Rome last November, also headed the exarchate.

Bishop Martynetz was given a coadjutor, said the news service. He is the Rev. Efreim Basil Krevei, who at the time of his nomination was Superior of the Basilian Fathers in Brazil. The news service said that "Bishop-elect Krevei has the right of succession."

The news was published along with the announcement that Archbishop Ivan Buchko had retired as Apostolic Visitor for Ukrainian Catholics in Western Europe and

KIRKWOOD, Mo. — Archbishop-Major Josyf Cardinal Slipyj was accorded honorary membership by the Mark Twain Society for his "special contribution to world peace."

The Society, named after the famous American writer, is dedicated to the cultivation of human virtues propounded by Mark Twain. It enjoys a great deal of respect among Americans of all walks of life, and among its members are some of the most distinguished figures from this and other countries. #### Multiculturalism Gaining As Force, Policy

HALIFAX, N.S. — An all-inclusive Canadian identity is gradually becoming a reality based on bilingualism and the free development of ethnic cultures. Senator Paul Yuzyk said in Halifax, N.S. Wednesday, December 8.

Addressing a seminar on multiculturalism sponsored by the Canadian Council of Christians and Jews, Sen. Yuzyk, director of the organization, suggested the new Canadian nation is ensuring the free development of the English and French languages and the cultures of other ethnic groups.

The Senator's address was reported at length by David Harrigan of The Chronicle-Herald.

He said changes in the composition of the Canadian society have forced politicians at every level of government to think in broader terms than simple French-English relations.

Support for multiculturalism, he said, indicated official recognition should be given to the concept by permitting non-official languages to be taught in schools where numbers were large enough to maintain classes. Sen. Yuzyk said submissions also suggested the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation should sponsor regular ethnic programs.

However, the B and B commission rejected the idea of a Canadian nation based on multiculturalism, stating that culture is a way of being, thinking and feeling. Sen. Yuzyk told his audience.

He said the B and B Commission was claiming the definition of culture in Canada.

Entry Forms

Entry forms will be made available through UNA Branch secretaries or from John P. Evasiuk, tournament secretary, 5243 S. Seeley Ave., Chicago, Ill., 60609.

Last year's tournament, held at Soyuzivka and the Ellenville Bowl-O-Mat, saw 33 teams — 25 men's and 8 women's — take part in the two-day event. Branch 113 of Derry, Pa., took eight of the nine titles in a near sweep.

Percentage Grows

During the last 60 years, he said, the French proportion of the national population has remained fairly steady at approximately 30 per cent. The proportion of smaller ethnic groups has steadily increased from 12 to more than 26 per cent, numbering almost five million people.

NAMED TO BOARD

DETROIT, Mich. — John J. Korney, of Detroit, has been named to a third term on the Board of City Canvassers by the Detroit City Council. Mr. Korney is a vice-president in the Public Funds Division of the Bank of the Commonwealth. He holds a bachelor's degree in business from the Michigan State University and a law degree from the University of Detroit.

The Board of Canvassers certifies city elections and investigates reported voting irregularities. Mr. Korney was for many years a member of the Wayne County Board of Supervisors originally appointed by the Hon. Mary V. Beck.

STUDY OF BORETSKY FORMS BASIS OF NEW ECONOMIC POLICY

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Comprehensive studies of Michael T. Boretsky, a Ukrainian economist who is a senior policy analyst in the U.S. Department of Commerce, formed the basis for the Nixon administration new economic policy that went into effect last August 13 and has now been extended through April 1973.

Boretsky analyzes what has been happening during the 1950's and 1960's to U.S. trade in four categories of exports. He also analyzes trade between the United States and four regions of the world. Though the picture varies from commodity group to commodity group and from region to region, he says, "the overall picture is that of a long-term and drastic deterioration of the U.S. position."

The gist of the situation, according to Boretsky, is that the United States has for years experienced trade deficits in two of his categories — namely, raw materials (because of the insatiable appetite of American industry) and manufactured products that are not technology-intensive (a function largely of comparative price levels). The picture in a third category — agriculture — "is not quite clear, but hardly promising," Boretsky says, while the situation in the fourth category — technology-intensive manufactured products — is "rapidly deteriorating."

Reasons For Concern

The focus of Boretsky's concern is this fourth category of technology-intensive manufactured products, which includes chemicals; electrical machinery and apparatus, including electronics; non-electrical machinery; all types of transportation equipment, including aircraft and automobiles; and scientific and professional instruments and controls. (Technology-intensive products were defined on the basis of an industry's scientific and engineering manpower, R & D expenditures, and relative skill level of workers.)

Boretsky notes that this commodity group is the "most voluminous" in our export trade and is "the only one that has consistently yielded surpluses that have covered the deficits in trade with other commodity groups as well as the deficits arising from other U.S. financial transactions with foreign countries." He notes that the trade balance in these products improved until the mid-1960's when it leveled off at about $9 billion and has remained in the $9 to 10 billion range ever since.

Quoted, Cited

Last year, his views and theses received wide circulation here and abroad in conjunction with the economic crisis. He was quoted by major professional periodicals, journals, magazines and newspapers. Moreover, his analysis and conclusions were used by Commerce Secretary Maurice Stans and by Patrick E. Haggerty, chairman of a panel of the President's Science Advisory Committee (PSAC) in congressional testimonies last year. Mr. Boretsky is also a member of PSAC, a highly prestigious body which includes a select group of experts in the field of science, technology and economics. Mr. Boretsky is generally credited with pulling together and analyzing

Jersey School Exhibit Wins First

JERSEY CITY, N.J. — An exhibit depicting Ukrainian Christmas traditions won top honors at St. Dominic's Academy here.

The exhibit, which was put together by Betty and Patti Berwecky of Bayonne, N.J. with the help of their fellow seniors in the St. Dominic homeroom, was only one of thirteen class projects which explored various Christmas traditions.

Included in the exhibit were samples of the twelve dishes of the Ukrainian Christmas meal, as well as a chalk painting which showed a Ukrainian village scene during the holiday season.

Also on display were numerous woodcuts, ceramics, embroidered towels and pillows, lacquer ware, and the latest in a new form of native Ukrainian art, bronze and copper sculptures. Many of the items, which represented Hutsul, Poltava, Carpathian and numerous other styles, were recently brought to this country by the girls' mother Mrs. Alice Berwecky, who is a frequent traveler to Ukraine.

Detroit Youth Wins D.C. Assignment With Congressman

DETROIT, Mich. — Victor Omelczenko, of Redford Township, Mich., is returning to the scene of the crime — he was the victim — but this time in an official capacity, says the Detroit News in a story on the youth.

Typewriter Stolen

Just before leaving Washington, last fall, where he was a fledgling writer for "Popular Science" and "Nation's Business," someone swang with his typewriter. "I don't know what kind of omen that is for a future reporter," said Omelczenko, who is twenty years of age and a winner of a Sears Roebuck & Company congressional internship for journalism students.

Omelczenko, a journalism senior at the University of Michigan, is interested in political writing and hopes to graduate with honors after completing a thesis on Detroit newspaper coverage of the "radical right."

In Washington, where he is due on February 7, he will be assigned to the staff of Representative Paul Findley, Illinois Republican, a man he has never met.

"Mr. Findley is from Springfield, the land of Lincoln, and is on the Education, Foreign Relations and Agriculture committees," Omelczenko said. "He's a member of a subcommittee on Europe, and I'm looking forward to that because I'm interested in foreign affairs. Washington is a very exciting town and I'm interested in seeing it from a legislator's point of view."

Omelczenko said he has been told he would be working on legislative research, speech drafting and answering mail from Finley's constituents.

Woonsocket Parish Marks Feast, Honors Pastor

WOONSOCKET, R.I. (AC) — On Sunday November 21, 1971, St. Michael's Ukrainian Orthodox Church parish here celebrated the feast of its patron saint, the 45th anniversary of the establishment of the parish, and the elevation of the Very Rev. Vitaly Kowalenko, their pastor, to the rank of Mitred priest.

A Gift

The ceremonies of the day began with the Divine Liturgy concelebrated by Archbishop Mark, the Very Rev. V. Kowalenko, the Very Rev. Filomen Kulchynsky, pastor of the Ukrainian Orthodox Church in Trenton, N.J., and the Very Rev. Myron Pacholik, Pastor of St. Andrew's Ukrainian Orthodox Church of Jamaica Plain, Mass. During the celebration of the Liturgy, the Very Rev. Kowalenko was crowned with a beautiful miter — a gift from the members of St. Michael's parish.

The chairman of the event was Peter Teper, and serving as the toastmaster at the banquet was Dmitry Yasiniczuk.

St. Michael's Ukrainian Orthodox Church was organized on July 14, 1926, and the new church edifice built in 1942, with the help of private loans from members as well as their generous contributions. One such loan was made to the church by the Zaporozka Sitch Society, local branch of the Ukrainian National Association.

Engagement Announced

NEWARK, N.J. — Mr. and Mrs. Myron Leskiw of Newark, N.J., have announced the engagement of their daughter, Margaret, to Richard J. Pierce, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Pierce of West Orange, N.J. The Leskiws are members of UNA Branch 133 in Newark.

Miss Leskiw was a valedictorian of her graduating class at Apts High School in Newark. Currently a junior at Montclair State College,

Margaret Leskiw she is majoring in mathematics. Mr. Pierce, a graduate of Mountain High School in West Orange, is a senior at the Newark College of Engineering. He is majoring in mechanical engineering. The wedding date has not been announced yet.

Stress Role

The speakers stressed the significance of the Ukrainian church in the community, and the representatives of the Ukrainian fraternal noted the role of the fraternal in church community. Other members of local churches, branches of the UNA, sisterhoods, spoke and presented gifts.

In his closing remarks, the Very Rev. Kowalenko expressed gratitude to the Archbishop for the great honor bestowed upon him on this day and thanked the parishioners for their devotion to the church and parish.

New Church in Rochester

A beautiful edifice, built at a cost of three quarters of a million dollars, is the pride of the Holy Epiphany Ukrainian Catholic parish in Rochester, N.Y. The new church was consecrated on Sunday, November 14, 1971, as some 1,500 faithful and clergy took part in the day-long ceremonies. Pastor of the parish, which adheres to the Julian calendar, is the Rev. Stephen Horodecky. Established in 1958 and making its home in a nearby shrine purchased from a Lutheran congregation, the parish launched the building plans in 1968. The new church, designed by architect Myroslav Nimec, combines the traditional Ukrainian with modern features. A spacious hall, with all the modern conveniences for social functions, is situated under the edifice. The parish maintains a variety of activities, including a school of Ukrainian subjects.

served as acting president. Mother Jerome was appointed President of the College in 1964 by Rev. Mother Euphrosyne, Provincial Superior. Her term was to last for six years. When she resigned because of ill health toward the close of her term (June, 1970), a search committee headed by the Rev. Jerome B. Coll, S. J., chairman of the Board of Trustees, interviewed candidates suggested by the faculty. For the first time, the entire Board of Trustees elected the college president. Mother Olga was elected for a six-year term of office.

During the time that administrators of the college were seeking full accreditation, student enrollment was growing steadily and the college program was expanding. Two honor societies were installed in 1966: Xi Chi Chapter of Phi Theta Kappa, and Delpha Mu Chapter of Alpha Mu Gamma.

All informal counselling service had been available to students from the opening of the school in 1947. But a professional counsellors' service was secured in 1969 to better handle the student body which had grown to 150 young women.

In their first quarter-century, the Sisters of St. Basil saw their college grow from 11 students to nearly 200. The Sisters' unselfish devotion to duty has been rewarded in many ways, not the least of which is the achievement and attitude of its alumnae. Nearly half of all Manor graduates continue their education; transfers have been made to colleges and universities throughout the country.

With these intangible yet heart-warming rewards, the Sisters of St. Basil look forward to their second quarter-century. With renewed enthusiasm and vigor they will strive for the continuing success and growth of Manor Junior College.

Obtain Grant

The school year 1966-67 saw the beginning of Manor's participation in the Economic Opportunity Grant. The sum of $7,000 provided by the federal government was matched by the college, and 16 girls with prior financial obstacles were able to enter Manor on the EOG program.

Always cognizant of its unique stance as a Ukrainian Rite school of higher learning, instructors included Ukrainian flavoring wherever

SPORTS SCENE
By Oleh Zwodich

'Amateur' Hockey Machine

Since Canada refuses to play hockey with the Soviet Union, Moscow sent its nine-time world champions to the United States this year and, considering the opposition, the Soviets went home in triumph.

Every year at about this time the Soviet national team and the Czechoslovak national team used to go on a tour of Canada in games against amateur teams. In most cases both European clubs won but not entirely with ease.

Too Much for Canadians

Finally, this was too much for the Canadians who pride themselves in being the best in the world in the sport and they demanded equal chances — namely the permission to use some of their better players. The permission was at first granted but then, under Soviet pressure, the World Hockey Association changed its mind. Canada promptly pulled out of all international competition.

Canada had no desire to use National Hockey League players. What it wanted to use were players from the minor leagues — or semi-professionals. But the Soviets, who claim that all their sporting teams are amateurs, warned they would pull out themselves.

Canada doesn't need international competition. Hockey is played on a much higher level in the NHL and it makes little difference whom the World Association calls "champion."

The Soviet national team arrived in the U.S. last December for a six-game, round-robin tournament. Organized by some businessmen in Colorado Springs, the tournament was played for the "World Cup." The other two teams in the tourney were a club team from Czechoslovakia and the U.S. national squad. The Czechoslovakian team had only about two players good enough for the country's national side.

The Soviets met the U.S. players in the first game and came off with a win in double figures. They then did the same to the Czechs.

When the tournament switched to Minnesota for the final three games, the Czech club pulled an upset by beating USSR, but the Soviets had already clinched the tournament championship.

After the tournament, the Soviet and U.S. national teams played a few more friendly matches, one of them at Madison Square Garden in which the Soviets scored 11 times with ease while the U.S. managed four goals. The game, played Jan. 6, drew over 14,000 people.

Wordy Encounter

Just the night before the Madison Square Garden game, the Soviet Squad played in Philadelphia beating the U.S. 9-3. The game went as expected but what was interesting was an encounter between the Soviet coach Anatoli Tarasov and a Philadelphia reporter, John Brogan of the Philadelphia Bulletin.

When told that an NHL team would defeat the Soviet team, Tarasov became upset and asked what made Brogan think so. Brogan said that there were better players in the NHL and named Bobby Hull and Robby Orr. Tarasov said that it was true that the two players were great, but pointed out (poking Brogan in the chest) that there were great players in the Soviet Union.

Tarasov, however, conceded that a match between an NHL squad and the Soviet nationals "would be interesting." He added, "We play a different type of hockey. It would be interesting."

Interesting for whom, we're not quite sure. Gary Dornhoefer, a right winger for the Philadelphia Flyers, told reporter Brogan, "There's no way that club would ever beat us. I'd bet a whole year's salary on that." Since Dornhoefer makes a hefty $25,000 annually, it seems logical to believe him when he says "We'd win" and "the Soviets would lose" no matter how many "great" players there are on the USSR's so-called "amateur" teams.
