FIVE THOUSAND COMMEMORATE VICTIMS OF FAMINE

BOUND BROOK, N.J. — A throng of more than 5,000 persons, led by Archbishop Mstyslav, Metropolitan of the Ukrainian Orthodox Church of the USA, commemorated the victims of the man-made famine in Ukraine 40 years ago in solemn ceremonies at St. Andrew's Church-Memorial here Sunday, May 6, a sprawling complex that is the seat of the Church's Consistory and dedicated to the millions of Ukrainians who died in the Moscow perpetrated famine.

The throng filled the area surrounding the Church-Memorial for a Pontifical Divine Liturgy celebrated by Metropolitan Mstyslav, Archbishop Mark and Bishop Constantine, assisted by numerous clergy of the Ukrainian Orthodox Church, with representatives of Ukrainian veterans and youth organizations, in their respective uniforms and with their banners, forming the honorary guard.

Members of Plast, SUMA, ODUM, the Ukrainian Orthodox League, as well as veterans of the Ukrainian Insurgent Army, Division "Halychyna," members of church and civic organizations turned out en masse for this day of mourning.

Following the Divine Liturgy, the hierarchs and clergy offered a Requiem service in memory of the famine's victims.

Metropolitan Mstyslav delivered a sermon, recalling the tragic events of 1932-33 that are tantamount to a genocide, deliberately perpetrated by the Kremlin in Ukraine.

The horror of the artificial famine was also the theme of an address by Gregory Kostniuk, president of the Ukrainian Writers Association "Slovo." Appearing with brief statements were also: Vera Drach, Ukrainian Orthodox Sisterhood; Victor Filimonchuk, ODUM; Ivan Vitluk, SUMA; Luba Mostova, Plast; and Lida Savvon, UOL.

The mournful presentation of colors was conducted by Bohdan Dackiwsky (Free Kozaks), Wolodymyr Hladych (First Division), and George Ferencovykh (Plast), to the tunes of trumpeter O. Holowacki. The throng then concluded the ceremonies with the Ukrainian national anthem.

The Metropolitan and the clergy then blessed a symbolic mound in the vicinity of the Church, dedicated to the victims of the famine. The hierarchs also offered Requiem services at the gravesides of the late Metropolitan John and the late Archbishop Volodymyr.

"Halychyna" Division Vets Rally at Soyuzivka

KERHONKSON, N.Y. — Some 400 persons, mostly veterans of the Division "Halychyna" and their families, took part in a rally here Saturday, May 5, staged in conjunction with the 30th anniversary of this Ukrainian military unit formed during World War II.

Gen. Pavlo Shandruk and Prof. Volodymyr Kubijovych, two of the architects of the Division, took part in the rally and addressed the gathering attended also by prominent Ukrainian community leaders and representatives of national organizations.

Gen. Shandruk and Prof. Kubijovych, in their remarks, recalled the initial steps in forming the Division, which subsequently was renamed the First Division of the Ukrainian National Army under the command of Gen. Shandruk. The guest speakers also spoke of the unit's role in preserving the continuity of the Ukrainian military in the nation's struggle for freedom.

The Division's veterans are organized in a Brotherhood in this country, whose president, Dr. Roman Drazniowsky, opened the evening's jubilee banquet. Serving as master of ceremonies was Yaroslav Balaban.

Among scores of representatives of national organizations was UCCA Executive Vice-President Joseph Lesawyer, and representing the UNA was its Vice-President Prof. John Teluk, himself a former member of the Division.

Appearing in the entertainment part of the program was the "Veselka" Folk Dancing Ensemble of New Haven, Conn., under the direction of Roman Strotzkyj, a bandurist capella of the Brotherhood's Newark Post, under the direction of W. Yurkewych and O. Holowacki, a dramatic montage adapted by Bohdan Boychuk from Oleksa Stefanowych's work, with recitations by Ihor Chuma and Nestor Holynsky.

The banquet was followed by a ball, with music provided by Oleh Strotzkyj and his band.

Dr. Jordan Wins Full Term As J. C. Mayor

Mayor Paul T. Jordan

JERSEY CITY, N.J. — Dr. Paul T. Jordan, the 32-year-old physician who was elected Mayor of Jersey City in a special election in 1971 to fill the unexpired term of Thomas J. Whelan, won a full three-year term in a regular election Tuesday, May 8.

Dr. Jordan defeated his challenger Thomas (Buddy) Gangemi Jr. by an almost 3 to 2 margin. With 172 of 173 districts reporting last Wednesday, the tally stood at 47,907 for Dr. Jordan and 31,404 for Gangemi. The incumbent Mayor claimed victory fifty minutes after the polls closed (8:00 p.m.).

Supporting the candidacy of Mayor Jordan was the Ukrainian American Democratic Club of Jersey City headed by Michael Warchol.

In nearby Hoboken, N.J., Steve J. Capriello, a 49-year-old police sergeant on a leave of absence, defeated by 84 votes the incumbent Mayor Louis DePascale.

In Passaic, incumbent Mayor Gerald Goldman and Walter Tencza will meet in a runoff mayoral election June 12th after they finished with the two highest vote totals of the four candidates vying for the office.

In Camden, N. J., 44-year-old Angelo Enrichetti, the City's Democratic chairman, who had the backing of the GOP machine, was elected Mayor, amassing a 5-1 margin over his nearest rival.

Congressman Daniels Protests Jailing of Chornovil

JERSEY CITY, N.J. — Dominick V. Daniels, Congressman from the 14th district of New Jersey has criticized the Soviet Union regarding Ukrainian nationalists.

In a speech last Wednesday on the House floor, Daniels spoke out against the jailing of Ukrainian Vyacheslav Chornovil, a television newsman, for "anti-Soviet agitation and propaganda."

Chornovil was recently sentenced to 12 years in prison for writing a book about political trials in Ukraine and discussing Soviet efforts to curb Ukrainian nationalist groups.

Ukrainians are the second largest ethnic group in the Soviet Union, said the Jersey Journal in reporting the news, and for 50 years Soviet leaders have attempted to put down nationalist efforts in Ukraine, which has long been influenced by western thought.

Daniels said that the unusually stiff sentence given to Chornovil indicated to him "that the Russian campaign of terror as a means of combating Ukrainian national feelings has been resumed. . . I must protest with all the vigor at my command at this retreat to the worst kind of Stalinist tactics reminiscent of the darkest days of the Cold War."

The Hudson County lawmaker played a leading role in the Congressional effort to deny trade concessions to the Soviet Union so long as that government maintained a costly exit visa for Soviet Jews seeking to emigrate to Israel.

He pledged to fight with equal force for Ukrainians and other ethnic groups in the Soviet Union.

UNA President Joseph Lesawyer wired the Congressman in Washington, stating that "all Ukrainians in Hudson County and throughout the world vigorously applaud your stirring defense of human rights and fully support your efforts to deny trade concessions to the USSR until it complies with the Universal Declaration of Human Rights."

Invite Cardinal To Take Part In D.C. Manifestation

NEW YORK, N.Y. — The Executive Committee of the Ukrainian Congress Committee of America, has extended an invitation to Archbishop-Major Josyf Cardinal Slipyj to take part in the Mournful Manifestation in Washington, D.C., Saturday, May 26, at the Shevchenko Memorial site.

The UCCA Executive Committee has issued a statement welcoming the primate of the Ukrainian Catholic Church in this country and urged all Ukrainians to partake in all activities scheduled in various centers of Ukrainian life in conjunction with the Cardinal's arrival.

The Manifestation in Washington is staged in conjunction with the observances of the 40th anniversary of the man-made famine, perpetrated in Ukraine by the Communist regime, which cost Ukrainians between 7 and 10 million lives. Expected to attend the event are several outstanding American political leaders.

UCCA EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE HOLDS QUARTERLY MEETING

NEW YORK, N.Y. (UCCA Special). — On Saturday, May 5, 1973 the UCCA Executive Committee held its regular plenary meeting at the Ukrainian Institute of America here, with 24 members in attendance. In the absence of UCCA President Dr. Lev E. Dobriansky, the meeting was conducted by Joseph Lesawyer, Executive Vice-President with Secretary Ignatius M. Billinsky taking the minutes.

Executive Director Ivan Bazarko reported on the forthcoming visit to the United States of Archbishop-Major Josyf Cardinal Slipyj, and UCCA plans to welcome him. Mr. Bazarko read a press statement on welcoming the outstanding Ukrainian churchman. He also said that a special letter was sent to the Cardinal inviting him to take part in the Mournful Manifestation on May 26, in Washington, D.C. The Executive Committee is making efforts to have a special audience with the Cardinal.

Manifestation in D.C.

Mr. Bazarko also reported on the extensive preparations for the Mournful Manifestation on the occasion of the 40th anniversary of the man-made famine in Ukraine, which will take place on Saturday, May 26, at the Shevchenko Memorial in Washington.

The manifestation is being sponsored by the UCCA executive Committee and the UCCA Branch in Washington, with the cooperation of all central and national organizations. The program has been arranged, including invitations to outstanding speakers, prayers by the Ukrainian hierarchs, participation of representatives of American and ethnic organizations, as well as the artistic program featuring the Ukrainian Chorus "Prometheus" of Philadelphia, a dramatization of the poem "Death," and so forth.

After the program a protest march is planned to the Soviet Embassy. The UCCA is also preparing posters, leaflets and a memorandum to the UN.

After a lengthy discussion, a special committee was elected to coordinate the program, which includes: J. Lesawyer, I. Bazarko, Dr. W. Dushnyck, Mrs. U. Diachuk, L. Futala, Mrs. C. Kulchycky and B. Fedorak. It was also decided to write to those youth organizations which have not as yet announced their participation in the manifestation, and to hold a press conference on Thursday, May 24, in Washington, to inform the American press on the purpose and significance of the manifestation.

USCF Circulars

In connection with the publication of a circular, "A New Intrigue to Stop the Activity of the Ukrainian Studies Chair Fund," sent to all contributors to the Fund by its organizing chairman, in which ill-intentioned acts were imputed to a number of Ukrainian community leaders, two members of the UCCA Executive Board, Ivan Bazarko and Ignatius M. Billinsky, submitted their resignations. The text of the said circular was read at the meeting. The circular also contained some insulting aspersions against three outstanding scholars of the Ukrainian community.

After a long discussion, in which almost every executive member took part, a resolution was unanimously adopted, condemning the methods of the organizing chairman of the Ukrainian Studies Chair Fund and expressing full confidence in the integrity of the two executive officers of the UCCA.

Upon unanimous request of the Executive Board, Messrs. Bazarko and Billinsky withdrew their resignations. At the same time, the Executive Committee decided to forward the matter to the UCCA Board of Appeals.

Subsequently, Ivan Wovchuk read a statement on behalf of the Organization for the Defense of Four Freedoms for Ukraine on (Continued on p. 2)

For Mom — A Day of Tribute

The custom of honoring one "greatest woman in our lives" dates back to pre-Christian days, when in Asia Minor special ceremonies were staged in honor of Rhea, the Great Mother of the Gods.

In Rome, 250 years before Christ, the worship of Rhea became the festival of Hilaria which was celebrated on the Ides of March — the 15th day of that month. Offerings were made in temples and the whole event signified the dignity of motherhood. Of course, the advent of Christianity strengthened the idea of honoring mother.

And in this country, Miss Anna Jarvis of Philadelphia is credited with starting the tradition there in memory of her own mother in the early 1900's. In 1914, U.S. Congress, by a joint resolution, called for the observance of the second Sunday in May as Mother's Day. President Wilson signed the resolution into law, confirming the observance "as an expression of love and reverence for mothers."

The profound respect for mother, shared universally by all peoples, has a special place in the spiritual heritage of the Ukrainian people. Rooted deeply in the religiosity of our people, the reverence for mother and the idea of motherhood can be said to be an integral part of the psychological makeup of the Ukrainian people.

And justly so. For chances are that the very first syllables we uttered were "Mama," the very first steps we took were under the watchful eye and with the guiding hand of our mothers. For years she stood aside as we had our days — the first day in school, the first communion, the first report card, the first graduation, the first award. The plaudits were ours as she humbly stood in the background. But tomorrow is the day when we step aside in a much deserving tribute. Let it be a day of love, of humility, of gratefulness and joy.

Welcome the Cardinal

For the second time in less than five years, Archbishop-Major Josyf Cardinal Slipyj is setting his foot on the American soil, embarking on an extensive and highly taxing itinerary in this country after a month-long visitation in Canada.

The Ukrainian Cardinal, held in high esteem by Ukrainians the world over, is expected to draw thousands of well-wishers wherever he goes. This was the case in 1968 when he made his historic journey to this continent and this will again be the case this time.

Cardinal Josyf, now 81 years old, has been in the news since his memorable arrival in Rome in 1963 after spending 18 years in Soviet jails and concentration camps. He has not rested since that time. It was at the Second Ecumenical Council that Cardinal Josyf advanced the historic claim of the Ukrainian Catholic Church to a patriarchate, a right as much as a necessity in the light of the total annihilation of the Church in Ukraine and dangerous undercurrents of alienation in the diaspora.

The Cardinal's determination has been the inspiration of the Ukrainian Catholic community in the free world. To be sure, there were tensions, cleavages, rash and imprudent moves that threatened to disrupt Ukrainian community life. An aura of lingering uneasiness may still be observed here and there. But the fact of the matter is that the overpowering presence of Cardinal Josyf, his loyalty to the Church and his unshaken faith in the justice of the Ukrainian Church's cause dissipated fears and instilled confidence in the ultimate attainment of the objective. Five years ago Cardinal Josyf preached and pleaded unity. Let us welcome him now in unity.

By STEFAN KORBONSKI

One also should not count on internal disintegration or a military putsch inside the Soviet Union. As far as Communism as an ideology is concerned, it is true that it is a progressive decline. There remains, however, the force of Russian imperialism, which to its credit has more successes than setbacks. In the Communist system the deciding power rests with the army and not the party. The Soviet army is indeed satisfied with the imperialist policy of the party, which itself is heavily staffed with generals. In this nuclear age the Soviet army is the mainstay of the regime.

Also, it is unlikely that the United States and the West in general will be able to liberate Ukraine by "peaceful means." Aiming timidly in this direction was the resolution (H.J. 944) introduced in the House of Representatives by the Hon. Clement J. Zablocki, Congressman from Wisconsin of Polish origin, calling for the establishment of diplomatic relations between the United States and the Ukrainian Soviet Republic and the Byelorussian Soviet Republic, and for establishment of U.S. embassies in Kiev and Minsk. But the resolution could not get off the ground. Anything that may be construed as working for the dismemberment of the Soviet Union is still "taboo" for American policy.

Nonetheless the division of Germany and of Europe in two parts, and the irreconcilable Sino-Soviet conflict, will keep the world under tension, and as Trotsky said, "There will be no peace and no war."

Immediately after signing the SALT Treaty, Brezhnev told the world that the treaty would have no influence whatsoever on the "ideological struggle" with the capitalist states. This suggests political equation: the more diminished the risk of a Third World War because of a series of treaties, the greater the subversive activities of the Communists. Whatever the Communist dictatorships will not be able to attain by force of arms will be pursued by other, proven means: infiltration, the spreading of moral decay among the Western nations, the destruction of family and religion, traffic in drugs, and a general subversion of all those values on which democratic systems base their existence.

On the other hand, the intensifying Sino-Soviet conflict does provide some possibilities for the recovery of independence, if the USSR does not try to solve this conflict through a preventive war. (Such a step would probably involve America; otherwise, the balance of power, tipping heavily in Russia's favor, would be fatal for the security of the United States and Western Europe.)

A long drawn-out "Cold War" between the USSR and Red China may gradually initiate a process of "self-liberation" of Ukraine and other countries forcibly incorporated into the Soviet Union. (The same may hold true for Poland and other countries of Eastern Europe that had been independent prior to World War II and which are now jointly represented in the ACEN.)

It would suffice if China would switch its present cautious policy, which carefully refrains from attacking the integrity of the USSR, to a more aggressive one aiming at the eventual dismemberment of the Soviet Union into a number of independent states. Such a solution is certainly in China's interest; it would completely neutralize the Russian threat.

China can implement such a policy in the United Nations and among the non-Russian nations inside the USSR through radio broadcasting from Peking in the languages of the 15 republics of the Soviet Union. Such broadcasts, appealing to the patriotic and nationalistic feelings of the captive peoples, would contribute to the growing aspirations for freedom and would further opposition to the Soviet regime.

In the face of growing unrest, the Soviet Union would be faced with two alternatives. It may increase repressive measures; but this return towards Stalinism is doubtful. Today there is a new Ukrainian elite, which includes writers, poets, scientists and other intellectuals, who are simply too numerous to be "liquidated." The echoes of their dissenting voices and opposition have been filtering into the free world more and more often and clearly.

The second alternative open to the USSR would be a slow gradual process — granting rights and autonomy to the Ukrainian people. (It is interesting to note state of the Ukrainian studies at Harvard, analyzing critically the writings and activities of some leading members of the Ukrainian Studies program at Harvard.

After a long discussion, the Executive Board, guided by the decision of the UCCA Board of Directors of February 10, 1973, unanimously decided to hold a special conference on the Ukrainian chairs at Harvard.

Taking part in the conference should be representatives of the UCCA, the Shevchenko Scientific Society, Ukrainian Academy of Arts and Sciences, the Association of Ukrainian American University Professors, the Ukrainian Historical Association, student and youth organizations, and the Ukrainian Studies Program at Harvard. Such a conference will be held Sunday, June 3, at the Ukrainian Institute of America here.

Reports

Mrs. Ulana Diachuk, UCCA Treasurer, reported on the meeting of the Finance Committee and a series of recommendations of the said committee. She also stated that the annual fund-raising campaign for the Ukrainian National Fund will take place in September and October instead of May and June, as was originally planned.

UCCA Policy Board chairman I. Wovchuk reported on the two sessions of the Board this year and presented a series of recommendations for implementation.

Dr. Matthew Stachiw, head of the Publications and Information Committee, reported on the preparation of works to be published by the UCCA, namely, a book by the late Prof. C. A. Manning, a history of the Ukrainian emigration in America, the Acts of Ukrainian Statehood, which are being prepared by Prof. Alexander Ohloblyn and Dr. Vasyl Omelchenko, and a collection of articles dealing with the 50 years existence of the USSR.

Dr. Bohdan Hnatiuk, chairman of the Committee for the Study of the Present State and Human Rights in Ukraine, spoke on concrete plans of the Committee and gave a number of recommendations.

Brezhnev's Visit

In connection with the forthcoming visit to the United States of Leonid Brezhnev, secretary general of the CPSU, Dr. W. Dushnyck proposed that the UCCA purchase a page in one of the American newspapers in New York or Washington, and present documentation on the destruction of Ukrainian culture and human rights, and the Russification of Ukraine. Such a statement would be signed by American and Ukrainian professors. Since such a political ad in the press is quite expensive, the UCCA Executive Committee will appeal to all Ukrainian central and national organizations for financial support.

Newsman's Column on Famine Cited in U.S. Congress

WASHINGTON, D.C. — "It was forty years ago that Stalin sent his hirelings into Ukraine to perpetuate one of the greatest massacres in history. Over seven million Ukrainian peasants and hundreds of thousands of other non-Russians died in a man-made famine."

This is the lead of an article penned by Copley News International correspondent Dimitru Danielopol on the 40th anniversary of the artificial famine in Ukraine.

The article was cited by Congressman Edward J. Derwinski in the House of Representatives Thursday May 3. Congressman Derwinski introduced the article in the Congressional Record prefacing it with his own statement that "at a time when there is growing interest in trade relations with the Soviet Union," it is necessary that "Americans understand the domestic situation within that country and its history since the advent of the Communist dictatorship."

The rest of Mr. Danielopol's article runs as follows: "In 1932 Stalin, who had become the undisputed master of the USSR after the expulsion of Leon Trotsky in 1929, adopted a policy of rapid industrialization and collectivization of peasant holdings."

"We are 50 or 100 years behind the advanced countries," Stalin told a conference of industrial managers in 1931. "We must make good this lag in 10 years."

He went to work with speed and ruthlessness. The accent was on building heavy industry at the expense of consumer goods. He proceeded simultaneously with collectivization of individually owned farms. This policy had twin purposes: to release workers from the factories and to undermine the individualism and independence of the owner-farmer. Communism could not survive unless that was done.

The peasants resisted. They fought the commissars who came to take over their land. The Ukrainians, a tough and rugged people, fought relentlessly and bravely.

In 1932 Stalin sent in troops in what has been called a "year of horror."

The bulletin of the Anti-Bolshevik bloc of nations recalls the story: "Russia sent in troops to take away the harvest, the bread . . . hundreds of thousands of Russian troops plundered Ukrainian villages, confiscated grain and killing people."

They burned the crops rather than leave any food for the farmers.

Dantean scenes followed. Mothers died with their starving children in their arms, but still the Ukrainians refused to join the communal "kolkhozes." In all, seven million perished. Several million others — the so-called "Kulaks" (well-to-do farmers) were deported to Siberia and labor camps in other parts of the country. They died like flies. An estimated 10 million Ukrainians died at the time at the hands of Stalin; 25 million peasants were forcibly moved and 25 million privately owned rural holdings that existed in 1929 became 100,000 large collectives.

It was Stalin's greatest crime and his greatest mistake. Soviet agriculture never recovered. Today's per capita production is below that of 1913!

Ukrainians abroad have never forgotten nor have they harbored any illusion on Kremlin intentions, the Bulletin says.

"On this 40th anniversary of the greatest genocide in the history of mankind, Ukraine warns the free world against the Russian tyrants who are preparing a similar genocide for it."

Manor Sisters In The News

JENKINTOWN, Pa. — Three Sisters from Manor Junior College, were spotlighted in the news during Easter week in a series of newspaper articles and television interviews.

Sister M. Julia, Dean of Students at Manor, was the subject of an article in the Montgomery County, Pa. newspaper, The Breeze. The article related how Sister Julia taught the art of "pysanky" to a librarian at the Huntingdon Valley Library, who in turn, now teaches the art to others.

Sister M. Cecilia who teaches history at Manor was featured in the Philadelphia Suburban press for her participation as a member of a three-member panel interviewing high school senior and picking three winners in the 11th annual scholarship contest sponsored by the Glenside, Pa., News.

Sister M. Gemma who annually teaches a public service course in "pysanky" at Manor was the guest of WCAU-TV's "Betty Hughes Show" April 17th and the following day she appeared on WPVI-TV's "Connie Roussin Show." On both programs Sister Gemma discussed the history and techniques of the art of "pysanky." In addition, a feature article quoting Sister Gemma on the techniques and history of "pysanky" appeared in more than a dozen newspapers in the six counties surrounding Philadelphia. The story also appeared in "Grit," a national publication with a circulation greater than the New York Sunday Times.

KERHONKSON, N.Y. — Branch 72 of the Ukrainian National Women's League of America, known for its charitable activity and involvement in community life, will hold its annual dinner dance Saturday, May 19, at Soyuzivka.

The highlight of the dance will be the drawing of the winning raffles for many valuable prizes. Proceeds from this drawing will go to worthy Ukrainian charities and the Branch's scholarship fund.

A number of guests are expected to arrive Friday evening to the UNA resort and remain through Sunday afternoon. The organizing committee, headed by Mrs. Mary Lesawyer and with Mrs. Anne Bezko as co-chairman, has arranged for a get-together Friday night for a songfest of traditional Ukrainian melodies.

Theodosij Kaskiw, Pioneer, Educator, Dies in Newark

NEWARK, N.J. — Theodosij Kaskiw, one of the pioneers of Ukrainian organized life in this country, especially in areas along the eastern seaboard, died here Wednesday, April 25. He was 95 years old.

Born in 1878 in the village Mozolivka near Pidaytsi, western Ukraine, Mr. Kaskiw came to the United States in 1903 and lived in Ansonia, Conn., for six years before taking up permanent residence in Newark, N.J. A teacher by profession, he was for many years president of the Ukrainian Sextons (Diakochytel) Society in America and was himself a "diakovechytel" at St. John's Ukrainian Catholic parish in Newark for over four decades.

An indefatigable community activist, Mr. Kaskiw was for many years director of the "Boyan" chorus in Newark, a charter member of the Trident Savings and Loan Association here, and a former president of the Ukrainian Community Center. He was also one of the founders of the Providence Association of Ukrainian Catholics, in subsequent years its vice-president and head of the auditing board. He served as manager of the "America" daily in the past.

He is survived by two daughters, Emily and Lubov, son, Dr. Eugene, and many near and distant relatives. Funeral services were held Saturday, April 28, from St. John's Church here to the Evergreen Cemetery where the body was interred.

Pittsburgh Is Site of UOL's Fellowship II

By STEPHEN SIVULICH

EASTON, Pa. — The Young Adults Commission of the Ukrainian Orthodox League has selected the campus of Robert Morris College in Pittsburgh, Pa., as the site for the second annual religious retreat for young adults of the Ukrainian Orthodox Church. Fellowship II will take place August 24-26 this year.

In an effort to interest the young adults — by discussing the Eastern Orthodox faith and its relevance today — the commission attempts to arrange a schedule of religious topics with current significance.

It is hoped that these fellowship programs, addressing the religious concerns of the contemporary young adults will serve as an outreach program to those who are seeking further knowledge about their faith, to those who have become inactive, and to those who are questioning life in the 70's in relation to the teachings of the Eastern Orthodox religion.

Fellowship I, held at Kent State University in August of last year was a spiritual enlightenment and an experience in Christian fellowship via lectures, discussions, rap sessions, spiritual song fests, and true brotherly love. The program for Fellowship II — 1973 is designed in that same fashion.

The Young Adults Commission requests that clergy, UOL members, and parishioners submit names and addresses of young adults so they will receive information on Fellowship II and other programs. For further information write to: Miss Ceil Pelenaky, 905 Ambassador Towne House, 2101 Chestnut St., Philadelphia Pa., 19103.

Chicago Lions Win Tourney

CHICAGO, Ill. — Contrary to superstition, Friday, April 13, turned out to be one of the luckiest days in the history of the Ukrainian American Sports Club Lions of Chicago.

It was Friday night, at the Chicago Avenue Armory here, that the Lions soccer team won the seven-a-side indoor soccer tournament, an annual event that fills the winter pause.

The Lions team thrashed the Greek "Hercules" seven by a score of 3-0, while getting a little bit of help from "Youths" who upset the "Olympics" by a 1-0 score. This assured the Ukrainian team of first place. But to make sure, the Lions defeated the "Olympics" on the subsequent Friday, April 20, by a score of 2-1 and took the Major Division trophy.

Two of the Lions players Roy and Schaefer, took individual trophies for the best offensive and defensive player, respectively.

The Lions are one of five Ukrainian sports clubs which maintain branches of the UNA.

See How Svboda Is Printed

A group of five Plast girls from New York, for years avid readers of "Veselka," as well as Svboda and The Ukrainian Weekly, wanted to see how it's all put together. So they took advantage of the Easter recess and made their way across the Hudson to Jersey City, N.J., — a harrowing experience in itself what with the PATH tube strike — calling on the editorial offices Tuesday, April 23. The young girls, all members of the Olena Pchilka "kurin," set out on their mission in line with the unit's program "to learn something new each month." They were led by Orysia Germak; their "zviakova." The group was hosted by Vice-President and Recording Secretary Walter Sochan at the UNA offices and then taken on a tour of the Svboda premises by Editor-in-Chief Anthony Dragan. After a short rest and refreshments, the girls were also taken on a brief tour of the new UNA headquarters being erected two blocks from Soyuz's present domicile. Photo above shows the girls in the Svboda composing room, left to right: Volodymyra Hnatkivsky, Olya Stasiuk, Andrea Chomyn, Oksana Lodzuk, Irene Yaremowych and Mrs. O. Germak.
