UCCA EXECUTIVE BOARD MEETS IN PLENARY SESSION

NEW YORK, N.Y. (UCCA Special). — A number of key problems connected with the internal and external activities of the UCCA were the subject of the UCCA Executive Board's plenary session, held Saturday, September 6, at the Ukrainian Institute of America here.

USSR, in which a total of 53 scholars will take part, including seven Ukrainian scholars. All the assembled congratulated the UCCA leaders in Detroit for their action and voted an appropriate donation to help in implementing this worthwhile effort.

Activities in Washington Prof. Lev E. Dobriansky, UCCA President, reported on the highlights of his activities on behalf of the UCCA in the nation's capital, which included: * His radio broadcasts in Miami, Fla., Buffalo, N.Y., and other places; * The Solzhenitsyn visit to the U.S. and its impact on the American people, and efforts to meet the Russian novelist at a Ukrainian American forum; * Despite the "summit"

VLADIMIR PRISON INMATES PROTEST TREATMENT OF MOROZ

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Two inmates of the Vladimir Prison sent a letter to the chairman of the Soviet National Health Council, Timakov, protesting the treatment of Valentyn Moroz, according to the Committee for the Defense of Moroz here. The two, Hibel Butman and Heorhiy Davidov, wrote Timakov that they learned that after Moroz ceased his nearly 20-week hunger strike the prison authorities confined the 39-year-old Ukrainian dissident writer in a regular prison cell. Butman and Davidov said that it was unjust to detain an emaciated person in a cell rather than in the infirmary. The letter, written January 12, 1975, was immediately confiscated by the prison officials and Butman and Davidov were denied permission to see their families as punishment for writing the letter. They were told that letters of this type can be written by the mistreated person himself and not by someone else. They were also warned to refrain from using the term "political prisoner," because, according to the officials, there are no political prisoners in the Soviet Union. The Committee reported that since Soviet authorities have intercepted telephone conversations from the West to either Dr. Andrei Sakharov or Tatiana Khodorovych, news about Moroz has been late and scant. The Washington group learned that during the past winter Moroz was detained in the second wing of the Vladimir Prison with a mentally sick inmate by the name of Opfeld. After persistent protests, Moroz was transferred to a cell block for two weeks. The current location of Moroz is unknown, said the Committee, and he is still threatened with incarceration in a psychiatric hospital. Earlier reports that Moroz was the victim of noise torture, aimed at driving him insane, have been confirmed by other sources in Ukraine, said the Committee.

Parade, Protest Rally Highlight September 21st Program

NEW YORK, N.Y. — Led by a group of Kozaks on horseback and accompanied by bands, decorated floats and dance groups in traditional folk costumes, thousands of Ukrainians from New York and neighboring states will march down Fifth Avenue Sunday, September 21, in tribute to the American Bicentennial and the 100th anniversary of Ukrainian settlement in the United States. The parade, the first of its kind for Ukrainians in this great metropolis, will move off from 58th Street at 2:00 p.m. and move down Fifth Avenue to Bryant Park (between 40th and 42nd Streets) for an all-Ukrainian manifestation of pride in their heritage and pleasure in the freedom and bounties provided by life in the United States. A second phase of the parade will be a protest march from Bryant Park to the United Nations, where a demonstration in defense of Ukrainian women political prisoners will be held at Dag Hammarskjold Plaza. Through state branches of the Ukrainian Congress Committee of America, parade organizers have issued an invitation to all Ukrainians on the Eastern seaboard to take part in the day's proceedings. The Ukrainian churches of New York have been asked to dedicate their morning services to Ukrainian women imprisoned in Soviet prisons, thus marking International Women's Year. Participants are being urged to wear embroidered shirts, dresses and ties. With youth groups and veterans marching in uniform and other groups in traditional folk dress, the parade promises to be a colorful spectacle. Included in the parade lineup are the youth groups of SUMA, Plast, ODUM, the Ukrainian National Women's League of America, American and Ukrainian religious leaders, members of various veterans organizations, representatives of Ukrainian organizations (UNA, UWA, Providence), students of St.

Senator James Buckley

Dancers and Ukrainian folk songs by the "Zhayvoronky" girls chorus of New York SUMA, according to the planners.

Mrs. Ulana Celewych, Senator Paul Yuzyk, and Congressman Mario Biaggi are scheduled to speak at the demonstration outside the UN. The program here will include the reading of resolutions which will be sent later to the UN Secretary General.

The day's events have been planned by the United Ukrainian American Organizations of New York in cooperation with UCCA branches in the eastern states and the Ukrainian Women's Year Committee.

In 1973 and 1974, Ukrainians of New York and the neighboring states gathered at Bryant Park for political demonstrations following a march down Fifth Avenue. This year's Ukrainian Day in New York has been planned as a colorful and lively celebration of Bicentennial and Centennial anniversaries, as well as a tribute to those who continue to resist oppression in Ukraine.

UKRAINIAN ECONOMY TO BE SUBJECT OF HARVARD CONFERENCE

Congressman Dodd Writes Soviet Leaders on Moroz, Pliushch, Others

WASHINGTON, D.C. — U.S. Rep. Christopher J. Dodd (D-Conn.) sent letters to the leaders of the Soviet Union strongly protesting their repression of Ukrainian scholars Leonid Pliushch and Valentyn Moroz, and of two Russian Jews, one imprisoned in a psychiatric hospital and the other trying to emigrate to join his stricken mother in Israel. The three-page letters, dispatched Thursday, August 28, stated that unless the USSR eased its repression, Mr. Dodd and "more and more of my colleagues in Congress" would view legislation benefiting the USSR, such as easing trade restrictions or allowing grain sales, "with the greatest of skepticism." The letters were sent to Leonid V. Brezhnev, Alexei N. Kosygin, V.S. Obidin, chief of the Soviet emigration agency, and Anatoly Dobrynin, U.S.S.R.'s ambassador to the U.S. Mr. Dodd asked these officials for assurances that the "rights of free expression and free travel" would be granted to the Ukrainians, and to Hillel Khayet, now in a psychiatric hospital, and Uri Podriachik, whose mother, Dina Roitkop - Podriachik, spoke with the Congressman before his May trip to the USSR. Unless these assurances could be given, "then it will be clear to me and to the rest of the Congress" that detente really is a meaningless exercise," Mr. Dodd wrote. The Congressman sent the letters to follow up personal appeals he made as a member of the official Congressional delegation which traveled to the USSR last May, and pursue a July letter to the Soviet government. Late Monday, August 25, Mr. Dodd was informed that Mrs. Roitkop-Podriachik suffered a massive stroke and is in serious condition under intensive care in a hospital in Israel. He cabled the Soviet leaders Tuesday, August 26, to request that they urgently prepare an exit visa to allow Uri Podriachik to go to his mother's bedside. In his letters, Mr. Dodd said that the USSR's treatment of dissidents such as Moroz, Pliushch, Podriachik and Khayet, leads him "to seriously question whether your country truly is committed to the principles which underlie the Helsinki agreement and the entire philosophy of detente."

Montreal Moroz Committee Renews Defense Action

MONTREAL, Que. — Efforts to secure governmental action in behalf of Ukrainian political prisoners incarcerated in Soviet jails and labor camps are underway across Canada, according to the Montreal branch of the Committee in defense of Valentyn Moroz. A nation-wide campaign of collecting signatures under petitions in behalf of Moroz, Leonid Pliushch, Vyacheslav Chornovil, Yury Shukhevych, Ivan and Nadia Svitlychny, Ihor and Iryna Kalynets, and others is currently being conducted by the Committee and its branches across the country. The petition will subsequently be presented to the Canadian government as well as to several international humanitarian organizations.

The second part of the two-pronged action is a prepared announcement for the press which the committee is making available to individual communities for publication in local newspapers. The communities are advised that they must bear the costs of the announcement's publication. The announcement contains factual material on the current state of affairs in Ukraine, its continued exploitation and persecution by Moscow, and on the plight of Ukrainian political prisoners. The Committee said that both the petition and the press announcement can be obtained by writing to: Committee for the Defense of Valentyn Moroz, P.O. Box 177, Montreal, Que., H8K 3V1. Petitions with signatures, as well as any funds, should be mailed in by November 1st.

Our First Event

On Sunday, September 21, the Ukrainian community will launch the observances of the Bicentennial of the American Revolution and the Centennial of Ukrainian settlement in the U.S. with a parade-manifestation in New York City.

The event, the first of a series planned on the national level, is staged under theegis of the Ukrainian Bicentennial Committee of America and New York City's UCCA branch, which means the broadest possible spectrum of participation.

The format chosen by the organizers is wholly in line with both the spirit of the observances and the general thrust of our community's overall strivings now and in the past. The parade down Fifth Avenue, a tradition of long standing in New York, is designed to present a live picture of our cultural heritage, while the manifestation at the United Nations is intended to underscore our principal and, at this time, most urgent cause—to protest against the violations of human rights in Ukraine and elsewhere in the USSR, which have resulted in the incarceration of thousands of our people in Soviet jails and concentration camps.

To repeat, this is a national event and a first one at that. Though staged in New York City, in terms of participation of our people it is not confined to New York City. To be an impressive event, one that will do justice to our community and to the dual anniversaries, it requires the presence of thousands of our people from the entire eastern seaboard. It is a kind of a test of our community's awareness of what the two anniversaries signify in terms of our presence in America.

Ukraine in Scholarly Spotlight

Over two successive weekends, September 20-27 and October 3-4, Ukraine will become the focal point of scholarly attention at Harvard University and the University of Detroit. The conference at Harvard, rapidly becoming the center of free Ukrainian scholarship, will dissect the economy of Ukraine, with some two dozen scholars and analysts treating various aspects of the problem.

Even a cursory look at the program suffices to note that the conferences are without precedent in terms of participation and problems to be discussed. Though staged on the initiative of our own scholars, in itself a highly commendable fact, they are not limited to Ukrainian participation. Men and women whose names are household words in the respective areas of their specialization will be discussing issues and problems relating directly to contemporary Ukraine.

Certainly, our scholars deserve commendation for their initiative in placing Ukraine on this truly high level of scholarly scrutiny.

To Display Works of Immigrant-Artists In Hirshhorn Museum as Bicen Project

WASHINGTON, D.C. — The artist-immigrants who came to the United States in the hundred years stretching from 1876 to 1976 strongly influenced American art. In turn the vigor of America had a strong impact on these immigrants and their work.

This will be made clear in an exhibit which the Hirshhorn Museum and Sculpture Garden in Washington, D.C. is presenting next year, beginning May 20, and continuing through October 20, 1976. Organized by Cynthia Jaffee McCabe, curator, the exhibition is tentatively titled "Artist-Immigrants of America: 1876-1976," according to an article in the official AR-BA, publication, Bicentennial Times.

It will include over 230 works by some 70 foreign-born painters, sculptors, architects, photographers and filmmakers, and will be shown in the second floor exhibition galleries of the Hirshhorn, with an additional group of large sculptures on the outdoor plaza.

The exhibition, which will probably be shown only in Washington, will include major works such as Piet Mondrian's "New York" 1941-42, Arshile Gorky's "The Artist and His Mother" 1926-39, and Joseph Stella's "Battle of Lights, Coney Island" 1913. The selection will be drawn from museum and private collections throughout the country, including the Hirshhorn's own holdings.

For the most part the works chosen will reflect artists' American years and will include landmark paintings and sculptures as well as other important works rarely placed on public view.

All of the artists represented in this Bicentennial exhibition settled permanently in the United States or became U.S. citizens, and their art was shaped in some measure by the experience of immigration, according to Mrs. McCabe, exhibition organizer.

"In recognizing the existence of a 'native' American art of international stature, one tends to overlook the fact that many of America's greatest artists—painters, sculptors, architects, photographers and filmmakers—were foreign-born," she comments.

"Yet modern American art is inconceivable without such giants as Josef Albers, Marcel Duchamp, Arshile Gorky, Hans Hofmann, Jacques Lipchitz, Ludwig Mies van der Rohe, Jacob Riis, Mark Rothko and Ben Shahn, all of whom were born abroad and emigrated to the United States."

Art movements such as cubism and futurism were introduced by early immigrant artists such as Joseph Stella (born in Italy) Max Weber (born in Russia) and others. Surrealism gained a foothold in American art when leading Parisians, many of them surrealists, fled to America to escape Nazi persecution. Some returned to Europe after the war, but their influence permanently affected American art. In the evolution of abstract expressionism, which became America's first "native" school of modern art, artistic immigrants such as Willem de Kooning (born in the Netherlands), Mark Rothko (born in Russia), Hans Hofmann (born in Germany) and others made significant contributions to this new art form.

The exhibition is divided into three historic periods which have characterized immigration in the past century. The first saw massive immigration in the late 19th and early 20th centuries (1876-1929)—prior to the 1929 National Origins Act which established limiting quotas on immigration from eastern Europe. The second period (1930-1945) is marked by the arrival of central European refugees, the majority of whom were fleeing from the Nazis. In the third period (1946-1976) from the end of World War II to the present, the United States assumed a preeminent position in the international art world and attracted artist-immigrants as it continues to do today.

These newer artists have been affected by the cultural climate in the United States, and in turn have exerted their influence on American art and contributed significantly to current art trends. Not all artist-immigrants settled easily in the United States nor were they universally pleased with what they found—for instance, the slums and the plight of the poor. But for some, such as Arshile Gorky, it may have been the contrast between his virtually feudal homeland and modern industrialized America which precipitated the fine paintings of his mature years.

Set New Dates for Conference On Church, Ethnic, Bicen

WASHINGTON, D.C. — The Executive Committee of the Catholic Conference on Ethnic and Neighborhood Affairs (CCE-NA) has announced a new time and place for its second annual conference, entitled "Towards a Rebirth of Values in American Society: The Church, Ethnicity, and the Bicentennial."

The conference, originally scheduled for the Brooklyn diocese in mid-August has been transferred to October 29, 30 and 31st at the newly refurbished Hotel Commodore in midtown Manhattan. The October dates were substituted by the executive committee in order to allow more participants from the parochial ministry, parochial schools and religious men and women to attend.

The coordinating committee of the conference is also planning a special Saturday, November 1, all-day conference to deal with intercultural and ethnic education, theology and ethnicity in American life and Catholic ethnic men and women's issues. The conference this year will focus on the Church, Ethnicity and the Bicentennial, said Bishop Basil Losten, Auxiliary Bishop of the Ukrainian Catholic Archdiocese of Philadelphia, Pa., and CCE-NA's acting executive director, "and the importance of Catholic immigrant and ethnic groups in the rebuilding of a value system in the church and society."

Principal purpose of CCE-NA, founded in Cleveland in June 1974 through the initiative of the National Center for Urban Ethnic Affairs whose president is Msgr. Geno C. Baroni, is the linking together of many Catholic ethnic groups and their religious and cultural leadership in America's urban centers for the purpose of rebuilding and expanding the links of religious, social, cultural and ethnic values in American life.

Conference coordinator is Rev. Paul J. Ascioia, C.S., recording secretary of CCE-NA and a staff member of the National Center for Urban Ethnic Affairs. Staff includes Sr. Victoria Mongiardo, MSBT, Ann Smith, Edward Plocha and Eve Ellison of the National Center staff.

Membership in CCE-NA is open to clergy, interested religious men and women and other Catholic leadership. Officers and members of the executive board come from a cross-section of pastoral and ministerial apostolates throughout the United States. Co-chairmen are Bishop Losten, Msgr. Bahoni and Detroit Auxiliary Bishop Arthur Krawczak.

dence Day," because the Ukrainian Revolution of 1917, like the American Revolution of 1776—was directed toward "independence from empire," and all UCCA branches must appeal to their respective Senators and Congressmen, urging them to introduce appropriate resolutions to that end.

Upon Prof. Dobriansky's suggestion, the Executive Board voted unanimously to apply for membership in the WACL as an associate member. Also, his suggestion to accept a proposal from Mr. Aloysius Mazewski, President of the Polish American Congress, to initiate talks on mutual cooperation in the U.S., was accepted. Dr. Dobriansky also proposed to have a whole-page ad in "The New York Times" and "The Washington Post" in March 1976, with the Shevchenko monument and a brief history of the Ukrainian settlement in America featured.

Finances

Subsequently, Mrs. Ulana Diachuk, UCCA Treasurer, in reporting the finance of the UCCA, stated that from January to August, 1975 the donations for the Ukrainian National Fund brought a total of $33,993, while expenditures amount to $45,974; the latter figure was increased because of the UCCA contribution of $5,000 to the annual budget of the World Congress of Free Ukrainians and also because of substantial outlays of cash for the remodeling of the UCCA-UNWLA building. She further stated that intensive preparations are now in full swing for the 1975 annual fund-raising campaign for the Ukrainian National Fund, which will begin October 15.

Dr. Anthony Zukowsky, chairman of the Committee for the Study of Ukrainian Life in the U.S., stressed the need for a number of improvements in the system of our organizational life, including the organizational structure of the UCCA, which problems will be discussed at the meeting of the Committee on October 25. Scheduled to speak at the meeting are Dr. Roman Drazniowsky (Ukrainian scholarship and culture), Mrs. Christine Kulchysky and Dr. Bohdan Futey (involvement of the young generation) and Omeljan Fleschkevych (economic sector). Mr. Bazarko and Dr. Michael Danyluk will discuss proposed improvements in the organizational structure of the UCCA.

Other matters discussed at the meeting included reports by Messrs. Lesawwo and Bazarko on the work and plans of the Ukrainian Bicentennial Committee; a plan for activities in the U.S., submitted by Dr. Vincent Shandor, forwarded to the Policy Board; resolutions submitted by Ivan Wowchuk, head of the Policy Board, which were forwarded to the Presidium of the Executive Board, and the forthcoming visit of the Byzantine Choir of Utrecht to the U.S.

Persons interested in registering for either course may do so at Shimkin Hall, 50 West Fourth Street, from September 15-19 and 22-26, (Mondays through Fridays), between 5:00 and 7:30 p.m. Late registration will be held September 29th to October

Centennial of Our Settlement Down Memory Lane

Early Ukrainian immigrants in the United States were slow in manifesting a genuine interest in schools of Ukrainian subjects. Osyp Stetkevych, the sixth editor of Svboda, wrote that small Ukrainian communities were at first interested in establishing churches and fraternal organizations, before considering the education of their children.

This trend was not unusual because in most cases males came to the United States to earn money and return to Ukraine. But after they began to settle down in America and bring their wives and children over, the community leaders began to think about Ukrainian schools.

Convincing the early Ukrainian that his child should attend not only a regular public school but one that taught Ukrainian subjects as well, was almost a Herculean feat in itself. Parents at that time sent their youngsters to school until age 16 and then they went to the mines or factories in order to supplement the family's income.

Svboda was the first institution to champion the cause of establishing schools of Ukrainian subjects in America. The newspaper spoke out editorially on the subject on March 1, 1894, and prodded the question in subsequent issues, until by the end of the year there were schools in Shamokin, Mount Carmel, Pittsburgh, Olyphant, Shenandoah and Jersey City.

Without waiting for victory laurels, the Ukrainian newspaper continued to write about Ukrainian schools in subsequent months and years. Svboda began criticizing the existing schools, saying they were inadequate for the Ukrainian children.

"Who is teaching in our Ukrainian schools? People who themselves should still be studying, people who themselves do not know how to read or write," said Svboda in an editorial dated September 21, 1905.

In most cases, the Ukrainian classes were conducted by cantors who knew religious music but might not have

SVOBODA Said:

"... An interesting project for the Ukrainian American community in line with the Bicentennial would be the erection of a George Washington monument in Kiev. Since first proposed three years ago, it has been neglected by our community. As odd as it may sound, the idea would have a far-reaching effect for Ukrainians, and, in the era of detente, it would become an international event. It is worthwhile considering..."

"... The recently signed agreement between representatives of the New York Metropolitan Museum and the Soviet Ministry of Culture to exchange five cultural exhibits between the U.S. and USSR is a noteworthy project, but aside from cultural motivations, some political undertones do exist. Already the American mass media are publicizing the program as an exchange of American and Russian artifacts, when two of the 'Russian' displays are, in fact, Ukrainian. Ukrainian scholarly societies in the United States should make certain that once these exhibits are displayed in American museums they are identified as Ukrainian..."

Ukrainian Church Life in Canada Since 1945

By Sen. PAUL YUZYK

II

This structure and the prelates have remained until recently, when in 1974 out of the western eparchy was carved out the exarchate of British Columbia in Vancouver, headed by Bishop Jerome Chymij, a Basilian Bishop Savaryn now heads the eparchy of Alberta, having received an auxiliary, Bishop Demetrius Greshchuk, a former secular priest.

The secular priests (some married) dominate the work of the parishes but they are not organized as a body. Systematic work and activities in the religious, educational and cultural fields is done by the monastic orders, the backbone of the church. The largest order is the Basilian Fathers, who had come as pioneers among the Ukrainians in Canada in 1902. Since 1948 they have been constituted as a separate province, headed mainly by Canadian-born men. In 1970 the Basilian order possessed 9 monasteries and monastic houses, with a membership of 109 monks, including 51 regular priests. Their original and chief center is Mundare, Alberta, where they operate a novitiate, a large library, archives and museum. Winnipeg is the seat of the Provincial; St. Basil's College is operated in Toronto, where the Missionary Sisters of Christ, "Svitlo" (The Light) is published; and there is a seminary in Ottawa.

maculate, with 22 monastic houses and 256 members, the provincial seat being in Toronto. They manage the Immaculate Heart Academy in Winnipeg, the Sacred Heart Academy in Yorkton, the Mount Mary Immaculate Academy in Ancaster, Ontario, where the novitiate from Mundare was transferred, two hospitals, several orphanages and homes for the aged. The Sisters of St. Joseph, with one house and 5 nuns, serve the Saskatchewan diocese. The Missionary Sisters of Christian Charity, with two monasteries and 13 members, are active in the Toronto eparchy, while the Oblate Missionaries, organized in 1962 with one house and 3 sisters, work in the Winnipeg archdiocese. The 27 monastic houses for women have almost 300 nuns.

The hierarchy of the Ukrainian Catholic Church, serving over 600 parishes and missions with many institutions, newspapers, magazines and publishing firms, is supported by several lay organizations with branches throughout Canada committed to Catholic action. Some have already been mentioned: Ukrainian Catholic Brotherhood, Ukrainian Catholic Women's League, and Ukrainian Catholic Youth. The students and graduates are organized in the "Obnova" Society. There are several branches of the Knights of Columbus, having formed a Ukrainian section. The St. Nicholas Mutual Benefit Association, founded in 1905, provides funeral expenses and life insurance for members. There are many athletic societies, children's societies, sisterhoods, brotherhoods, and others. Each diocese has a council to coordinate the work of the societies in the eparchy. The national activities of all these organizations, with nearly 500 units and over 25,000 members, are coordinated by the Ukrainian Catholic Central Council in Winnipeg. This vast active network of organizations is the mainstay of the Church.

The release from a concentration camp in Siberia of Metropolitan Josyf Slipyj of the Ukrainian Catholic Church in Ukraine by the Soviet government, which had imprisoned him for 18 years, and his elevation to the rank of Cardinal by Pope John XXIII at the Ecumenical Council in Rome in 1963 gave rise to a vigorous movement for the establishment of a Ukrainian Catholic Patriarchate, since there were Patriarchs of smaller churches under the jurisdiction of the Sacred Congregation of Eastern Churches in the Vatican. A synod of Ukrainian Catholic bishops from various countries of the world which was held in Rome in 1969 recognized the Cardinal as the Primate of their Church and petitioned Pope Paul VI to establish a Ukrainian Catholic Patriarchate, with Cardinal Slipyj as the Patriarch. Newly formed lay organizations strongly supported this goal during the two visits of the Cardinal to North America in 1968 and 1973. So far, Pope Paul VI has not given recognition to such a patriarchate.

of Catholic immigrant and ethnic groups in the rebuilding of a value system in the church and society." Principal purpose of CCE-NA, founded in Cleveland in June 1974 through the initiative of the National Center for Urban Ethnic Affairs whose president is Msgr. Geno C. Baroni, is the linking together of many Catholic ethnic groups and their religious and cultural leadership in America's urban centers for the purpose of rebuilding and expanding the links of religious, social, cultural and ethnic values in American life.

Members of the executive board come from a cross-section of pastoral and ministerial apostolates throughout the United States. Co-chairmen are Bishop Losten, Msgr. Bahoni and Detroit Auxiliary Bishop Arthur Krawczak.

Rev. Shary Feted at Silver Jubilee of Priesthood

CHICAGO, Ill. — Rev. Joseph Shary, pastor of St. Joseph's Ukrainian Catholic Church here, in celebrating his silver priestly jubilee on Sunday, June 8, offered a Divine Liturgy of Thanksgiving and was feted at a banquet. Bishop Jaroslav Gabro, of the St. Nicholas Diocese in Chicago for Ukrainians, presided together with the Rt. Rev. Abbot Thomas Havlick of St. Procopius Benedictine Abbey, Lisle, Ill. A banquet was tendered in honor of the jubilarian after the Liturgy at the Marriott Inn.

Just before the Liturgy, a procession of parish organizations, school children and clergy escorted the jubilarian into the church where, together and with flowers, celebrating with Father Shary were his two close priest friends, the Rev. Demetrius Kovalchik and Very Rev. Msgr. Jaroslav Swyschuk.

Guest homilists at the Liturgy were Very Rev. Julian Katriy, OSBM, pastor of the Nativity BVM Church in Chicago, and the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Peter Skrinicosky, Rector of St. Basil's College in Stamford, Conn.

In the Ukrainian language Fr. Katriy underscored the dignity and the worth of a priest: "Even angels do not share the divine power given to the priest at ordination. When he beckons, God becomes present upon our altars in the Holy Eucharist. No angel can lead us out of Satan's clutches as can the priest and then direct our footsteps to God. More than angels, the priest is privileged to do Christ's work on earth in spreading the Gospel to all men."

Addressing the large congregation in English, Fr. Skrinicosky recounted the role of the Ukrainian priest in America, turning special attention to the Ukrainian pioneer priest of the last century, Fr. Ivan Volansky, founder of the Ukrainian Catholic Church in America.

The homilist pointed out that Fr. Shary was continuing the work of the Ukrainian Church so nobly begun by Fr. Volansky. In conclusion he addressed these words to Fr. Shary paying special tribute to his family: "Your vocation for the priesthood did not fall from a huckleberry bush. Like all vocations to the priesthood, it needed authentic Christian parents like your father and mother of pious memory. Unfortunately, they, especially your widowed mother of many years, who nurtured and fostered the vocation entrusted to their care, are not physically present with us. Through our faith in the communion of saints, we believe that they are rejoicing in your priestly efforts as also your brother Frank of pious memory, and sisters, Anne and Millie who are present here today with their families. It was at the kitchen table in your home that the whole family committed themselves to work and pray and help you become a priest. By fulfilling yourself in the priestly vocation you thereby enriched their lives because they shared in your priesthood."

In attendance at the Divine Liturgy were many priests, dignitaries, invited guests, parishioners and friends. Father Shary's family also joined in the Liturgy of Thanksgiving.

After the Liturgy, over 400 guests attended the testimonial banquet. Rudolph Presslak, organizer of his pastor's silver jubilee, warmly welcomed all the guests and introduced the master of ceremonies, Very Rev. Stephen Chomko pastor of St. Vladimir's Ukrainian Catholic Church in Elmira Heights, N.Y., who guided the program amiably.

During the banquet a fine program of songs, recitations and Ukrainian dancing provided a delightful interlude. Various presentations were made to the jubilarian.

Fr. Shary was greeted by the words of his brother-in-law Arthur Dochych, who told everyone: "All of you have the privilege of calling the jubilarian, 'Father'; we in our family are honored to call him 'brother'."

Abbot Havlick also expressed his warm greetings to the jubilarian on the occasion. Bishop Gabro congratulated Fr. Shary on this 25th anniversary of priesthood, blessed him and wished him "Mnohaya Lita."

"The tribute you have paid to Father Shary today," the Bishop said, "is an honor that you give to every priest. God will bless you for this and reward you for your deeds. In doing so, however, you are really giving honor to God and His Only Begotten Son, our Lord, Jesus Christ," said Bishop Gabro.

Abbot Havlick offered the benediction at the conclusion of the fete.

Ukrainian Actress Featured In TV Magazine

NEW YORK, N.Y. — Larissa Lauret, a Ukrainian actress appearing in "The Doctors", a daytime TV show, was featured in an article in the September issue of "Daily TV Serials".

The four-page article, written by Joyce Estrin, includes several photographs of Miss Lauret, who in real life is Larissa Kukrytska-Lysniak, in her Long Island home. The actress has been married for 11 years and has two daughters, Ulana, 10 and Lada, 8. She and her daughters appear in one of the photos in "Ukrainian costumes playing banduras. The article dwells at length on the Ukrainian heritage of Miss Lauret and her family.

In "The Doctors", Miss Lauret plays Karen Werner, a woman involved in a love triangle. Because the role called for a dark-haired woman, the blonde actress has been wearing a wig for the eight years she has been on the show, said the article.

According to the story, Miss Lauret has two loves: acting and art. She took professional acting courses with the famed teacher Lee Strasberg and received a B.A. in art from Hunter College and an M.A. from Columbia University. Recently she has taken up photography as a hobby.

Television is not the only medium the Ukrainian actress is familiar with. She has also worked in Broadway shows with actresses of the calibre of Bette Davis, Shelley Winters and Claudette Colbert, as well as in summer stock shows, commercials and tours.

Looking toward the future, Miss Lauret, who finds her work in the serial exciting, plans to pursue a film career.

"Rushnychok" Plans Release Of Third Album in October

MONTREAL, Que. — With the mood of Volume 3, a bit more serious than the previous two, oscillates from tender love songs to the heroic "Tutiunyk", from the satirical "I Got Married" to the haunting message song "It Seems That I Was Here Before", all done in "Rushnychok's" inimitable beat. It is as pleasing to the ear as it is enticing to dancing.

The popular quartet of vocalists-instrumentalists from Montreal, Que., now in their sixth year of existence, are making tonight their last of five appearances this season at the "Miss Soyuzivka" contest.

"Rushnychok's" Volume 3 features five new songs, composed by the quartet's members themselves with lyrics written by Borys Budny, the group's ex officio member.

Eugene Osidacz, Andrii Harasymowycz, Yurko Szyk and Stepan Andrusiak all display their talent as composers-arrangers in this album with greater sophistication than in the previous two volumes, while the entire ensemble demonstrates a broader range of instrumental effects which complement the vocal parts of the numbers.

The concert portion of the day featured the Plast girls chorus from Passaic under the direction of Andrew Farmiga and the Lesia Ukrainka Women's Bandurist Capella from South Bound Brook.

The dinner, attended by over 300 persons, was opened by the Club's president, Richard Baim, followed by the national anthems by the "Boyan" choir under the direction of Anthony Sawaryn; Rev. John Squiller, pastor of St. Peter and Paul, offered the invocation. The program was then turned over to the master of ceremonies, Don Fordham, radio station WAUB announcer, who sparked the proceedings with his witty introductions of the speakers.

WINS AWARD AT MEET

As reported last week, one of the finest matches in the 20th annual tennis championships at Soyuzivka was that played by a couple of ten-year-olds, Paul Korol ("Chermyk" D-troit) and Andrew Charchalis (Plast Baltimore). It was a semifinal match in the 12 and under group, with Paul winning in two sets, 7-6, 6-3.

But Andrew did not leave Soyuzivka without a distinction: he left the memory of a fine sportsman and competitor, and was justly awarded the Mary Dushnyk Sportsmanship Trophy, which the UNA Vice-President herself presented to the youth, as the photo above shows.

Minneapolis Ukrainians Stage Heritage Day

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. — Festivities centering around Ukrainian Heritage Day were held this year Sunday, August 17, 1975, and marked the 63rd anniversary of the blessing of the cornerstone of St. Constantine's, the first Ukrainian Catholic church in Minnesota.

Along with the importance of preserving Ukrainian culture and heritage, the themes of the Bicentennial anniversary of America's independence and the Centennial of the first Ukrainian settlement in the United States, were influential in the text of this year's program, whose head organizer was John Warkiriak.

Some 600 people took part in the Ukrainian Heritage Day and the local newspaper "Argus" reported that, "Ukrainians have understood the significance of America's bicentennial."

The day's events began with a Divine Liturgy celebrated by Rt. Rev. Canon Stephen Knap and the program, which was directed by Dr. Michael Kozak, commenced with the main speaker being Lieutenant Governor Rudy Peprich, who spoke of the Ukrainian contribution to the growth of Minnesota.

Mr. Peprich awarded the St. Constantine parish with the official ARBA flag.

On the school grounds the entertainment part of the program included appearances by youth ensembles from the parish, such as the dancing group "Zahrava," under the direction of Myron Pavlyshyn, and the singing group "Akord," directed by George Lucyk.

Another highlight of the Heritage Day festivities and complementing the theme of Ukrainian culture was the art exhibit at the museum, dedicated to Archbishop-Major Josyf Cardinal Slippy, which included works from the private collections of parishioners, and many antique Ukrainian books, journals and coins.

Among the lighter activities was a "varenyky" eating contest which was covered by a local television station.

Youngstown Ukrainians Launch Bicentennial with 3-Day Festival

By LESIA ZATWARNYCKYJ

YOUNGSTOWN, O. — The Ukrainian Bicentennial Committee of Mahoning County staged a three-day observance of "Ukrainian Days" Sunday, August 10, thru Tuesday, August 12.

The affair opened at 4:00 p.m. Sunday, at Berkley Woods here, with the 44th annual Ukrainian Day. In charge of the Ukrainian Day was the Mahoning County chapter of the Ukrainian Congress Committee of America. Walter J. Prochak and Michael Martynyszyn were co-chairmen.

Entertaining the more than 1,000 persons in attendance was the LUC choir of western Pennsylvania with Mrs. Irene Vladuchick directing. Also performing were the Ben Mischev Ukrainian Dancers and the Greg Kowal Ukrainian Dancers, both from Youngstown.

Michael Komichak of Pittsburgh, Pa., was the main speaker at the program. Mr. Komichak reminded everyone that Ukrainians have been in America for a long time. He said that a Ukrainian was among the workers brought to the colonies by Capt. John Smith. Ukrainians also served in the Revolutionary War and in the Union forces during the Civil War. Mr. Komichak pointed out that the greatest Ukrainian immigration began in 1876 and reached a peak in 1914.

Demonstrations of "pysanky" decorating were given by Irene Hawrylo, Irene Kowal, Karen Patrick, Helene Senediak, Elaine Yuschak, and Kathy Walkowicz. A beautiful Ukrainian arts and ceramics display was staged by the Mike Bilon family, and the Dmytro Zatzwornycky family managed the Ukrainian embroidery display, which featured a hand-embroidered Taras Shevchenko, Ukrainian "Trident," and the Blessed Virgin Mary and Jesus — all embroidered by Mrs. Paraska Zatzwornycky. Michael Stecwycz of Struthers, O., displayed Ukrainian carved picture frames and several carved crosses.

The "Ukrainian Days" received a great deal of publicity in the media. Several articles appeared in the Youngstown Vindicator, and the three television networks provided television coverage of the festival.

The Ukrainian Bicentennial Committee of Mahoning County, with Atty. Michael Yurchison as president, will sponsor a piano concert Monday, September 22. Performing at the Federal Plaza here, will be Roman Rudnytsky, renowned Ukrainian concert pianist. The concert is scheduled from 12 noon to 1:00 p.m.

On Sunday, October 19, the Ukrainian Bicentennial Committee will sponsor another concert in Powers Auditorium. The "Dunai" Folk Ensemble will make their first appearance here on that day.

Hold "Ukrainian Day" In Pennsylvania

MAC ADOO, Pa. — On Sunday, June 27, the 42nd annual "Ukrainian Day" was held in Lakewood Park, where 100 years ago the first Ukrainians settled in the United States. The "Ukrainian Day" was sponsored by 26 area Ukrainian Catholic parishes.

According to various local newspapers, this year's "Ukrainian Day" celebration was one of the best, with outstanding performances by the entertainers, including two dancing ensembles directed by Mykola Boychuk from Philadelphia and the local choir from the Church of the Blessed Virgin Mary, directed by the Rev. Bohdan Lewycky. The ensembles are known in the Anthracite Region through appearances on television and at various ethnic concerts. The day's activities began with a Moleben service, celebrated by Auxiliary Bishop Basil Losten of Philadelphia, with the assistance of local clergy.

This year's festival was attended by Ukrainians from Pennsylvania, and also from Maryland, New York, New Jersey and Connecticut, as was evidenced by the myriad of license plates in the parking lot.

The festival is annually held in the area which marks the birthplace of the Ukrainian National Association over 81 years ago.
